Rulings on Draft Deferments Due Today

'THIRD BOOK' WILL DEFINE EXEMPTIONS

'Blanket System' Dropped as Principal Authority Goes To Local Boards.

MARRIED MEN EXCLUDED

Definition of 'Dependents' and Other Terms Will Be Set Up.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Selective service headquarters planned to issue today regulations covering the selection or deferment of the 16,404,000 men who register on Oct. 16 for one year of military training.

The classification regulations will be the third of six volumes to be issued. Already published are volumes covering organization and administration, and registration. To come are those on induction into the army, finance, and physical standards.

There will be no "class" deferments in the regulations in contrast with the World war draft which granted blanket exemptions to those working in shipyards and other essential defense industries. Local boards will consider each individual's claim to deferment.

The regulations will define dependents and "essential" occupations.

Officials indicated that all married men living with their wives would be granted deferment. They expect to have about 5,000,000 men without dependents and not engaged in essential occupations.

It was believed that the regulations would practically tell local boards that they shall defer persons who occupy key posts in any industry serving the normal needs of a community or whose removal would cause a recession in employment in any industry. Doctors, dentists, policemen, firemen and health inspectors would be deferred too.

Classification of registrants will not take place until after the lottery—between Oct. 21 and Oct. 26—has determined the

County Debt All Paid, Scrap Over Bridge Revived

Replying to a suggestion from Mayor William J. Locke that the county commissioners "do something about the North Main street bridge," C. L. Mitchell, chairman of the board of commissioners, said today that the county would pay a third of the cost of a new bridge if the city will pay a third.

Mayor Locke pointed out in a letter to the commissioners that the county is out of debt and has $35,000 left in its bond retirement fund which could be used to finance at least a part of the cost of a bridge.

We can't use that money for bridge purposes," Mitchell said. "Any money for road and bridge work would have to come from the county road fund, and Engineer Howard Sword told us there's not enough available to pay more than a third of the

STEAMER AFIRE

In ercepted Message Reports Flames In Hold.

THOMASTON, Me. — (AP) — Mackay radio intercepted a message here today reporting the British steamer Wearwood afire in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. The message, from a Canadian station, said the Wearwood had a "fire in No. 1 hold."

The ship's position, as given, Mackay said, would put her off Anticosti island.

Three Russian Wine Trust Heads Sentenced For Private Sales.

MOSCOW—(AP)—Three officials of the state wine trust were sentenced today to death before a firing squad for systematic theft of wine to sell privately at cut prices.

New Meter Bids $250 to $1,000 Less

Estimates on 500 Cut In Second Slate Of Proposals.

Reductions from $250 to $1,000 in bids submitted for leasing to the city 500 parking meters for a nine-month trial period were represented in six proposals opened this noon by the board of control.

The reductions represent a lower unit price submitted by four of the firms which bid on the machines Aug. 26.

Bids previously submitted were rejected by Mayor William J. Locke three weeks ago after he had studied the proposals for more than two weeks. He contended that "pressure groups" were working for various meter installations.

The mayor was not at the opening this noon and Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton said it might be "a couple of days" before the contract is awarded. He indicated that the board would come to an early decision on the machine to be installed.

Proposals included prices on the rental, with option of purchase at the end of the trial period, of two automatic meters and four manual type devices.

Bids on automatic meters were submitted by the Dual Parking Meter company, Oklahoma City, Okla., through the Westinghouse Electric Supply company of Cleveland, and the Graybar Electric company, Cleveland.

Proposals on manually operated machines were entered by the Union Metal Manufacturing, Canton; Duncan Meter Corporation, Chicago, Ill.; Michaels Art Bronze company, Covington, Ky., and M. H. Rhodes, Inc., Hartford, Conn.

The only firm not bidding the second time was the O. D. Jennings company of Chicago.

The Dual company submitted a proposal identical in unit price to the one entered six weeks ago. It calls for a monthly rental of $2.50 for nine months with option of purchase at $27, the total cost of a nickel machine being $49.50.

Graybar slashed its price $2 per unit, bidding $57.50 on a meter it had previously quoted at $59.50.

PULP BURNED

Twenty-Two Injured Fighting $75,000 Paper Mill Fire.

MIDDLETOWN —(AP)—Twenty-two men, including Fire Chief Elmer Reed, were in a hospital today and dozens of others were at home recovering from smoke fumes encountered in battling a fire which caused an estimated $75,000 to $100,000 damage to the Sorg Paper company plant Sunday.

Every available ambulance was pressed into service as men succumbed to the gas which originated in tons of paper pulp. Police Chief Hugh A. King was among victims taken to their homes.

Louis Ritz, a company official, estimated damage. He said loss included large store of Norwegian and Finnish pulp, no longer available because of war conditions abroad. The cause was undetermined.

DEFERRED

Court Postpones Sentence In Shake-Down Trial.

CLEVELAND—(INS)—Appearing today for sentence on four counts of extortion, Albert Ruddy, president of the Carpenters' District council, was told by Common Pleas Judge Frank J. Lausche that sentencing would be deferred until Thursday.

Ruddy was accused of shaking down building contractors over a period of several years for amounts ranging from $200 to $5,000.

SEES BIG VOTE

Neffner Predicts Over 3 Million Ballots in November Election.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— A record vote of 3,250,000 in the Nov. 5 election was predicted for Ohio today by Secretary of State George M. Neffner on the basis of intense interest in President Roosevelt's and Wendell L. Willkie's presidential battle.

Neffner forecast a vote of 3,150,000 in the presidential contest, which also would be a new record.

At Brenner Pass--- Planning Balkan Move?

European circles believed that the historic Brenner Pass conference between Mussolini and Hitler, shown above as they conferred (Nazi Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop is at left), was responsible for today's moves—armed Axis penetration into Rumania. Ostensibly taken to protect Rumanian oil fields from possible British sabotage, the move was also reported to have as its goal a naval base in the Black sea, and further encirclement of Russia. The Axis partners are also reported to have their eyes on the Dardanelles and Turkey.

GOP NOMINEE LASHES HAGUE

Declares Defense Must Start at Home; Interview With Lewis Reported.

JERSEY CITY, N. J.—(AP)—Describing Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City as a "puny Hitler," Wendell L. Willkie appealed today for preservation of civil liberties as an important part of national defense.

The Republican nominee for president called Hague, Democratic national vice chairman and state leader, "the principal promoter of the third-term draft, if such it is," and said his city was the site of "the greatest bunch of corruption and racketeers that ever appeared in America."

Speaking under heavy police protection in Journal square—whence Norman Thomas was "deported" when he tried to talk in 1938—Willkie told a throng estimated by supporters at 15,000:

"I call on you in the interest of the cause we represent to bring civil liberties to their full functioning in Jersey City. If we do that and the people do that in every community, our precious rights will remain."

Willkie described how he had seen many vacant stores with pictures of Mr. Roosevelt in their windows.

"I don't know of any more ap-

Beightler Turns Over Highway Duties to Assistant.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—Brig. Gen. Robert S. Beightler today turned over his duties as state highway director to Hal G. Sours, Akron, preparatory to Beightler's appointment as major general in command of the 37th division, Ohio national guard. Sours has been assistant highway director.

Governor Bricker was expected to announce appointment of Beightler to the state's highest military command post either late today or tomorrow.

Hurry Plans For Willkie's Speech In City Next Week

Wendell L. Willkie, Republican candidate for president, will make a 30-minute stop in Mansfield Oct. 16 but county Republican leaders said it was doubtful if he will have time for anything but a rear platform talk from his train near the Union station.

The G. O. P. nominee, who previously was scheduled to stop here only 20 minutes, probably will speak from an Erie train between North Main and North Diamond streets, Ralph Hardy, county Republican executive committee chairman, said today.

"We would like to have Mr. Willkie speak in Central park and will try to get him to do that, but his campaign manager told us today not to depend too much on that," Hardy asserted.

Hardy said it was pointed out to him by Willkie's manager that the Supreme Court to Rule on Defense, Conscription.

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—The supreme court met today for the first session of its 1940-41 term during which it may rule on many phases of the national defense program and the constitutionality of the wage-hour law.

Today's session was to be brief and no decisions were to be handed down.

After admitting lawyers to the supreme court bar, the court will adjourn for a week to study review petitions and decide whether they involve questions meriting further hearing.

VISITS ARSENAL AT WATERVLIET

President Roosevelt to Begin Trip Into Ohio Friday; Inspects Defense.

HYDE PARK, N. Y.—(AP)—Defense inspection trip number 7, an arsenal at Watervliet, N. Y., which is stepping up production of guns for the army and navy, topped President Roosevelt's program today.

Preparing to sign an excess profits tax bill, Mr. Roosevelt reserved the forenoon for studying the measure. It is designed to hold down profits on war materials orders and prevent the creation of preparedness program millionaires.

The president arranged to leave for Watervliet by train shortly after noon, and put in about an hour looking over an establishment which is operating around the clock and turning out 37 millimeter to 16 inch guns.

The arsenal, dating back to the War of 1812, produced more than 1,000 cannon in the 14 months ended Sept. 30, and the output will be expanded after the installation of coldworking equipment and an additional shrink pit.

A 75-mile motor tour planned for the chief executive included a stop at Saratoga battlefield, on the 163rd anniversary of an engagement in which the American

CHARRED BODY FOUND IN RUINS

Gas Station Proprietor Thought Slain by Robbers.

CLEVELAND—(U.P.)—The charred body of a 55-year-old bartender, believed slain by robbers who looted seven slot machines, was found early today in the fire-blackened ruins of a combination gas station-beer parlor and barbecue stand in suburban Warrensville Heights.

The victim was Charles Gierman. His body, the head, legs and part of his arms burned off, was found in the small room he occupied in the rear of the gas station section of the one-story frame building.

Reds Take Two-Run Lead In First Frame Of Sixth Game

CROSLEY FIELD, CINCINNATI—Battling with their backs to the wall to stay in the World series, the Cincinnati Reds drove two runs across the plate in the first inning today and sent Schoolboy Rowe, Detroit starting hurler, to the showers. He was replaced by Johnny Gorsica.

Bucky Walters set the Tigers down, in order in their half of the first, and his mates immediately staked him to a two-run margin.

Werber opened with a double, went to third on a sacrifice and scored as Goodman beat out a hit to York. Frank McCormick and Jimmy Ripple singled and Goodman scored.

Rowe appeared to have little of his stuff as the Reds hit him all over the lot in the first inning, while Walters appeared to be in top form. He set the Tigers down in order in the first, snuffed a flurry in the second after Higgins had singled and did the same thing in the third, getting Gehringer on a foul to Wilson after Bartell had doubled and gone to third on McCosky's long fly to Goodman.

HUNDREDS IN REGISTRATION LINES TODAY

Jam Election Board Offices to Qualify For Voting at Nov. 5 Election.

DEADLINE FALLS AT 9 P. M.

New Record Already Set as Board Estimates Total Will Pass 20,000.

Hundreds of Mansfielders who want to vote Nov. 5 but put off registering until the last day probably resolved again today that they won't do it again.

Soon after the county election board office opened this morning a long line formed outside the door, and board officials expected the line to reach out into the street by late afternoon. The registration deadline is 9 p. m. tonight.

A new registration record has already been set in the city, and it was predicted that the hundreds who will register today will boost the total past the 20,000 mark. The previous high was 18,000.

A record vote in the city and county in the coming presidential, state, and county election was forecast by board officials on the basis of the rush to register and transfer so as to establish voting eligibility.

If the anticipated jam materializes this afternoon and tonight, some of the prospective voters will have to stand in line an hour or more before they can get into the election board office to register, it was said.

Extra Clerks On Job.

An increased force of deputy clerks and registrars is handling the registrations, but it requires several minutes to get the necessary information from the prospective voter and record it for election records.

Residents of Mansfield who have failed to vote at the last two November elections, moved into the city since the last election, reached voting age since then, and women who have recently married must register to vote in November.

Voters who have moved since voting the last time must transfer so that their eligibility will not be questioned when they go to the polls Nov. 5.

TORPEDOED

British Tanker Sends Distress Signal From North Atlantic.

NEW YORK—(INS)—The 6,899-ton tanker, British General, today sent out a radio distress signal reporting that she had been torpedoed in the North Atlantic and needed immediate assistance.

This is the second distress call to be issued by the tanker in the last 24 hours.

Yesterday, Mackay radio intercepted a message from the steamer reporting that she had been torpedoed. She then gave her position as latitude 51.42 north, longitude 24.03 west — approximately 600 miles west of land's end, England.

Action Follows Brenner Parley Of Axis Chiefs

Position of Turkey Threatened by Military Pincers Movement in Balkan Area; 'Not Directed Against Russia,' Nazis Say

BULLETIN

(By Associated Press)

German and Italian troops were reported today to have marched into Rumania, word spread in the Balkan kingdom's capital that the Axis planned to construct a great naval base on the Black sea. With this first new move since Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini met last Friday at Brenner Pass, it appeared that Rome-Berlin strategy now contemplates a thrust into southeast Europe—possibly involving Turkey and the strategic Dardanelles.

By PIERRE J. HUSS

BERLIN—Authoritative German sources openly admitted today that German troops are en route to Rumania in accordance with provisions of the Reich's guarantee to the Bucharest government of Premier General Ion Antonescu.

This admission provided the first real indication of the trend and import of the momentous decisions reached by Chancellor Hitler and Premier Mussolini at the recent Brenner Pass conference.

Motive for the sudden dispatch of Reich troops to Rumania was not revealed, but authentic quarters implied that the Axis powers aim to forestall any British "surprise" anywhere in the Black sea region.

Significant allusion was made to Baku, the rich and strategic oil producing city in Transcaucasia on the Caspian sea.

German quarters recalled a diplomatic incident which occurred last summer when a purported letter to the Paris government from the French ambassador to Ankara allegedly uncovered an Anglo-French plan to set fire to the Baku oil fields.

(Editor's note: Baku and Transcaucasia are in the U. S. S. R. If German troops obtained control of Rumania, they would then be in position for a drive to the east, perhaps through Turkey, which if successful would put them in position to dominate the Black and Caspian seas and Transcaucasia as well, if the Nazis so desired and Russia acquiesced.)

German quarters insisted that whatever developments occur in the southeast are not directed against Russia. But whether a Russo-German deal is in the making or has been made regarding Baku is not clear.

The position of Turkey, whose relations with the Reich are not yet considered satisfactory by Berlin, is now believed certain to become questionable. There were predictions that Turkey may find herself faced with a crisis in the near future.

In addition, authentic German quarters indicated, the Axis powers probably will move in "blitz" fashion in "several places during the next few weeks" as a result of the Brenner Pass rendezvous between Hitler and Mussolini.

In connection with the movement of German troops into Rumania, these same circles revealed that a German general went to

DOWNED: Bag Nine Raiders As Nazis Resume Air Attack

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—Nine German raiders were reported shot down today as Germany intensified her air war after London's first quiet night in a month, sent a series of large squadrons against this city. Daylight raids, starting with attacks by single or small groups of planes, broadened into a series of thrusts with large numbers taking part.

The third daylight alarm was sounded in the London area as German planes, flying singly, and by twos and threes, flew over the southeastern part of the city and also over the southwest coast.

Bursts of machine-gun and anti-aircraft fire told of brief battles during the second and third raids, and apparently the bombers were driven off.

But later they returned over a southwestern London district, and were met by ground fire and British fighters.

Some yellow-nosed Messerschmitts dived on the balloon barrage at Dover, and shot down two of the big sausages. The Germans took advantage of brilliant sunshine which succeeded thick clouds and storms yesterday and last night, when air activity was greatly reduced.

As they returned to the siege British authorities let it be known that hallowed Westminster Abbey, burial place of illustrious British dead and the scene of the coronations of her kings and queens, had been damaged by a recent bomb, and that Lambeth palace, residence of the Archbishop of Canterbury, has been made uninhabitable.

A communique said a few bombs were dropped shortly after dark

WARNING: Japs Will Take U. S. Acts As War Declaration

(Editor's Note: A warning that Japan will regard as tantamount to a "declaration of war" any further naval demonstrations or embargoes by the United States is voiced in the following cable sent from Tokyo today by Matsutaro Shoriki, publisher of the powerful newspaper Yomiuri Shimbun and an outstanding leader in Japanese affairs. Mr. Shoriki, maintaining that American recognition of Japan's new order in the far east will afford the groundwork for permanent peace, set forth his views in response to a request from International News Service for a clear exposition of Japan's real attitude toward the United States.)

TOKYO — (INS) — America has misjudged Japanese strength and purpose

She prophesied that Japan would last only two years in the China incident.

Her prediction was based upon the following:

1 — Japan's economic weakness, stressing that the military was dependent upon foreign trade, especially America, for scrap iron, oil and other war supplies.

2 —That Japan's internal affairs were deadlocked in domestic stagnation arising from undue hardships.

America concluded from these observations that pressure on her part would force Japan to change her policy in China and the South Seas in accordance with Ameri-

Machinery Aids Reducing

By MME. QUI VIVE

No telling about this but the time may come when a girl won't have to do her beauty chores; she'll press buttons and they'll be done for her. The machine age started in the factories. Then we got all sorts of gadgets in the home — vacuum cleaners, electric irons, electric ranges and goodness knows what. And now there are all sorts of buzzing things in the beauty shops. It will be swell for the lazy girls who limit their activities to the lifting of an eyebrow.

Machinery in beauty shops started when the electric needle was used for dewhiskering bearded ladies. Then the electric brush and the vibrator got into action. Along came the permanent wave machine to make straight girls curly. The therapeutic lamp joined up and by that time the career lady who started a beauty shop found that her equipment took a good deal of cash-coin-spending-change. The ultra violet ray crackled blue sparks over ladies' top mops, were supposed to make the silky threads grow long and abundant.

Somebody invented a machine that did manicuring by electricity but didn't seem to make a go of it. Eyebrows are tweezed by means of chained lightning, and with less discomfort than when tweezers are used. Zipp! Out they get!

When you get an oil treatment for scalp and hair the metal comb that is used contains oil which is heated by an electrode inside the funny thing. Saving time means a lot in a beauty shop where the cash customers are champing at their bits, wanting to hurry home before the children get back from school, or anxious to be back at the office or shop.

There's a machine that jiggles your scalp after the oil is put on. It sends stern messages of blood streams to be up and at 'em, bringing groceries to a glorious crown that may be more or less depleted.

In reducing establishments there is enough machinery to run an airplane factory. The electric horse is particularly enjoyable. It is guaranteed to knock off fat cells, also to do things to your liver in case it needs stimulation.

You can have rollers move over your svelte anatomy to reduce measurements. All these methods are satisfactory to the rotund lady person who loves her chocolate cakes and can't resist the bonbon box. Simpler than exercising and dieting.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"Katie!" I remonstrated mechanically.

"It isn't nice to call such outlandish names, Katie," Lillian said with a comradely grin tempering the reproof.

"Otto," I broke in, "as soon as you have finished your soup, but don't dare leave until every drop is gone, bring Mr. Veritzen's luggage up to my room on the second floor—Katie will show you where it is. Then when he has finished with you, come back here, unless he has other orders for you, which I do not think he will have."

"I do everything you say." Otto agreed meekly, and went back appreciatively to his soup while Lillian and I hurried out of the room. Katie followed us out.

"How many I haf in dining room to dinner?" she queried a bit aggressively. "Meesis Bicket she say old vomans haf dinner in her room, and she goin' to have keeds eat oop 'n nursery. Und. of course, me, I know your fader have tray in hees room, und dot Fairfax vomans mit Miss Whitlock, dey have trays too. Any more?"

"I do not think so, Katie." I replied. "As far as I am able to tell now, there will be nine at dinner in the dining room."

"Okay!" Her tone was relieved. "But nit all dose trays to go first, I no tink I kin haf dinner mooch before hour."

"That will be perfectly all right, Katie," I told her, and then she vanished into her kitchen again, while Lillian and I mounted the stairs to the second floor.

"What do you think of Phil's request?" I asked.

"It's a nice pep talk," she said, "and as far as I am concerned, I'm perfectly willing to go over and hold his hand while he weeps upon my shoulder. How about you?"

"I'll provide the handkerchiefs, and listen to him," I told her, "but nothing more."

"You old meanie!" she said with a grin, "but just so you're around and give me moral support, I don't care. Whither away? Oh! to Olga I suppose. He's giving her a half hour to get ready for him. She ought to get all primped up by that time. Give her my love. And don't you wish we could be mice in the wall when she tells Phil about the emeralds?"

"There's no use wishing," I retorted. "That's one session where we'll be absent. But I imagine Father will have us in his room when Olga shows the necklace to Phil—don't you think that's the reason he stipulated they should come over there afterward?"

"Looks like nothing else," she agreed, and then as I turned toward the barred rooms where Olga and her daughter had taken sanctuary, she entered her own room.

I sped down the hall, and knocked lightly upon Olga's door. Usually Olina answers any summons, but it was Olga this time who opened the door with infinite pains, and slipped past me into the hall, putting a warning finger to her lips as she did so.

"Olina's asleep," she said, "after a raging headache. I do not want to disturb her until she wakes naturally."

"Of course not," I said, making the mental note that Katie's dinner table and trays would probably have to be revised again. "But I must speak to you for a minute, alone. Will you come to the little trunk room at the end of the hall? It is pretty cluttered, but it will serve."

"I can't imagine any room being 'cluttered' in your so admirably managed household, my dear Madge," she told me graciously, but my answering thank you was mechanical, and I saw that she did not even look at the room as I said quickly, "Mr. Veritzen is here, and wishes to see you in half an hour, if he may."

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, Oct. 8.

Exceptional opportunities for advancement, prosperity and happiness are presaged from the very auspicious combintaion of powerful planetary forces. There should be definite gain through application, hard work, sound judgment as well as splendid organizing and executive ability. It is a ripe time for directing the energies and talents toward the fulfillment of high goals, even though there may be some sort of lack of co-operation from those in high places. In purely personal relations there is need of circumspect conduct.

Those whose birthday it is are entering a year in which there should be progress, promotion, prosperity, with very expansive and stabilizing forces operating toward the fulfillment of high goals and ambitious objectives. It is a time for working with resolution, intelligence and industry to such ends, even though there may be some opposition. Be particularly discreet in private affiliations — social, domestic or affectional.

A child born on this day may be efficient, responsible, industrious and ambitious, reaching high levels of attainment by its soundness, executive ability as well as its personal popularity and prestige.

TYPES OF SQUEEZES

IT WILL pay any player to know the principal types of squeeze plays. Compilations indicate that two or three ordinary deals out of every hundred will furnish a chance to get a trick by these stratagems which could not be taken in any other way. To many fair players, the elements of a squeeze play are a mystery, but they may be learned very easily.

The simplest types of squeezes usually are called the forward squeeze and the backward squeeze, which are shown respectively at the left and right below:

Left		Right
North	♠ K ♥ A J	North	♠ 2 ♥ A J
West	♠ A ♥ K Q	East	♥ K Q ♣ A
South	♥ 2 ♦ 2 ♣ 2	South	♥ 2 ♦ 2 ♣ K

In the lineup at the left, with East's hand of no consequence because he has only high clubs, when South plays the final diamond, West must discard. If he tosses his spade A, South then discards the heart J from dummy, where he takes the last two tricks. If West tosses a heart, North trashes his spade. In the lineup at the right, with West's hand inconsequential because he holds the high spades, when South plays the final diamond and discards the worthless spade from dummy, East is on the spot. If he tosses the club A, South takes the club K and heart A; if he discards a heart, South takes the last two tricks in dummy.

Notice the three vital elements in each of these hands. In each case South has a card on which the squeezed player must discard. He also has a small card to lead to the top of its suit, where there also is another card not yet set up. The squeezed defender can beat the second card of that suit if he can retain his guard to his highest card. The third element is the not yet set-up card of a third suit, which the squeezed player also tries to protect. He cannot hold both his card in this suit and the guard to his high one in the other suit, so is squeezed. Notice that the backward squeeze would work against either East or West, whereas the forward will work only against West.

North	♠ K ♥ A 2
West	♠ A ♥ K Q
East	♥ J 10 ♣ 10
South	♥ 3 ♦ 2 ♣ 8

Here we have the double squeeze, which combines the other two in one play. When the diamond is led, West must hold his spade A, so has to unguard the hearts. This puts on East, after dummy discards the spade, the burden of guarding both hearts and the club, which he cannot do. Notice that this play would not work if East and West traded hands. It would then be a "no squeeze" position. For a double squeeze, the first defender must guard the single card of the hand which plays after him and the second must guard the single card which is in the hand of the squeezer.

Tomorrow's Problem.

North	♠ J 8 6 2 ♥ A Q 8 ♦ Q 10 7 ♣ J 9 7
West	♠ 10 7 4 ♥ K 9 4 ♦ K 8 4 ♣ 10 6 3 2
East	♠ K ♥ 7 6 5 3 ♦ A J 9 2 ♣ K 8 5 4
South	♠ A Q 9 5 3 ♥ J 10 2 ♦ 6 5 3 ♣ A Q

(Dealer: East. Neither side vulnerable.)

When playing the spade suit in this hand, what basic principle calls for South to lead a small card from dummy, rather than the jack?

FALSE TEETH

That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wabbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE —

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour 2 pints of bile juice into your bowels every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Then gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Take as directed. Amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. 10¢ and 25¢.

THEATERS

Frontier Life of Mormons.

The production, "Brigham Young, Frontiersman," by Louis Bromfield, showing at the Ohio, stars Tyrone Power, Linda Darnell and Dean Jagger, supported by a brilliant all-star cast. Magnificent in scope and spectacularly filmed, the picture tells the epic story of the Mormons and their courageous 1800 mile trek from Nauvoo, Ill. to Great Salt Lake in 1846. Other members of the cast include Brian Donlevy, Jane Darwell, John Carradine, Mary Astor, Vincent Price and Jean Rogers.

Adventure In Oil Fields.

"Flowing Gold," a lusty saga of love and adventure in the western oil fields, is showing through Tuesday at the Madison. Heading the cast are Pat O'Brien, John Garfield and Frances Farmer. O'Brien is seen as Hap O'Connor, a capable oil foreman, while Garfield is cast as Johnny Blake, friendless and alone in the world. Both fall in love with the same woman. Co-feature is "So You Won't Talk?" starring Joe E. Brown.

Family Loyalties.

In "The Mortal Storm," current attraction at the Ritz, is offered a drama of compelling power, starring Margaret Sullavan, James Stewart, Robert Young and Frank Morgan. The filmization of Phyllis Bottome's gripping story of a family embittered and broken up as the result of the divided political beliefs of its various members, presents an exciting story. Miss Sullavan is cast as the daughter of the professor who must choose between the love of Stewart and Young, both of whom more than measure up to the exacting standards of difficult characterizations.

Modern Story and Western.

"Private Affairs," new comedy starring Nancy Kelly, Robert Cummings, Hugh Herbert and Roland Young, is showing at the Park. Announced as a modern and breezy story played against the background of staid Boston and its wealthy Back Bay, finds Young as the scion of a family who for 20 years has chosen to be a "black sheep" rather than submit to the dictates of his parents. Co-feature is "Carolina Moon," with Gene Autry, Smiley Burnette and June Storey.

OFFICERS NAMED

F. O. E. Initiatory Work Held At Eagles Hall.

Announcement has just been made of the names of the officers of the newly instituted auxiliary to the F. O. E. which was organized Friday night at the Eagle hall with David Barry, Flint, Mich., aerie in charge.

They are Frances Turner, president; Bertha Kalbfleisch, vice president; Donna Berg, secretary; Edna McCready, treasurer; Mary Hartman, chaplain; Thelma Fisher, and Jeannette Schmidt, guards. Helen Wheitner, and Elizabeth Allen, Norma Hall and Lillian Emmons, trustees. Mrs. Emily Fisher is past president.

The initiatory work for 55 members was conducted by the Crestline auxiliary headed by Thelma Fisher.

OLD LANDMARK ON WAY OUT

Famed Monolith Being Broken Up To Provide Rocks.

LONGVIEW, Wash.—(AP) Historic Mount Coffin may disappear entirely in another 25 years.

The huge lower Columbia river monolith, mentioned in journals of the Lewis and Clar Expedition and a landmark over the area, has been disappearing slowly in the maw of a giant rock crusher.

In recent years it has been the source of a million or more tons of rock annually for Columbia river jetty work. In 35 years, more than half of it has been taken away. Numerous Indian relics were removed from graves on the heights.

Blarney Castle was built in 1446 by Cormac McCarthy.

Congress Expected to Begin Campaign Lay-Off Soon

RECESS UNTIL NOV. 18 WITHIN NEXT 2 DAYS

Legislators Who Refused To Go Home Have Spent 13 Billions.

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— The third session of the 76th congress —the national defense congress— is ready for its campaign lay-off and probably will go home tomorrow or next day.

Democratic leaders propose a recess until Nov. 18. Republicans want a series of three-day recesses beyond election day during which a skeleton crew would go through momentary noon-time motions of meeting and recesseing a couple of times a week.

The decision will be taken by the votes of both houses. Either way the business of congress would be suspended until after the Nov. 5 polling, barring unforeseen emergencies.

After the elections one of the "acute" questions before congress will be that of financial aid to Great Britain, according to Sen. Walter F. George, D., Ga. Legisintion suspending the Johnson act to allow loans to Britain has been introduced by Sen. William H. King, D., Utah, but administration leaders have shown no disposition to act on it on the ground that Great Britain does not need such aid immediately.

Before taking a vacation, the house must act on a conference report on the Ramspeck civil service bill which would allow the president to extend civil service status to several thousand federal workers, and the senate and house must act on conference reports on a rivers and harbors authorization and on a bill to ease installment payments, care for the insurance premiums and prevent eviction of men conscripted for military training.

This session refused to adjourn last spring when President Roosevelt suggested that little remained for it to do. Since then it has voted new billions for national defense, approved new tax schedules, imposed peacetime conscription and authorized the mobilization of the National Guard.

Approximately $13,000,000,000 (B) was appropriated or committed in contract authorizations for defense spending. Congress first authorized an 11 per cent increase in the navy and then a 70 per cent increase.

Will Supply Bible Literatures To Men Under Draft

OMAHA, Neb. —(AP)— Taking cognizance of the conscription program for national defense, the executive board of the United Lutheran Church Bortherdood recommended today it cooperate with the Federation of Lutheran Brotherhoods of America to supply the new soldiers with religious literature and supplies.

The recommendation was made at the 12th biennial brotherhood convention, which is preceding the national convention of the United Lutheran church, to open Wednesday for a week-long session.

Setting up machinery to supply "suitable Christian literature and other religious supplies" direct to the cantonements where the conscripted men will be trained was urged.

Harry A. Fritsch, Allentown, Pa., brotherhood treasurer, reported a balanced budget for the first time in 22 years.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday in the United Methodist church with Rev. W. H. Bryenton officiating. Burial will be in Green Springs, O.

Surviving are the husband, who is a retired Methodist pastor; two daughters, Mrs. Glen Heston of Mansfield and Mrs. Carl Robart, Birmingham, O., and one son, Kenneth Weaver of Greenwich.

DIES AT BUCYRUS

Mrs. Hazel Conner Had Been An Invalid For 10 Years.

BUCYRUS—Mrs. Hazel Conner, 39, wife of Wayne Conner, died at City hospital here Sunday morning. She had been an invalid for 10 years.

She is survived by her husband, her parents, Earl Fawley of Crestline, and Mrs. Frances McGillic of Columbus; and a sister, Mrs. Clyde Stalter of Mt. Vernon.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday at the Munz funeral home here.

1 Hurt, 9 Arrested In Traffic Near City

Councilmen in South Boulevards used a novel plan to get one of their forgetful members to a meeting the other night, but the plan worked, anyway. When Councilman W. S. Valmore failed to show up, council ordered a warrant—a fake one—prepared for his arrest and chose Marshal J. J. Swisher to take it to him. Swisher went about the task seriously and he and Councilman Valmore were half way back to the meeting before Valmore said, "I know what this is for; I forgot the meeting tonight."

All that feuding in the police department over who is the best marksman was settled today when Police Chief Meade K. Bates posted scores resulting from six weeks of competition on the pistol range at Ontario. Patrolman Paul J. Martin is the new champion, averaging 94 for the shoot. Patrolman C. W. Kyler posted a 91.5 for second place and Lieut. Paul Whipp and Patrolman George Yoakum were tied for third place with scores of 89.2. Martin will be awarded a trophy. The prize was donated by the Ohio Brotherhood of Police Officers.

When Charley Jones, 149 Dawson avenue, wants to listen to Ohio State football games over the radio on Saturday afternoons, he doesn't let anything stop him—not even when he has some work to do in the back yard of his home. Last Saturday Jones had some painting to do in the rear of his home, so he carted his cabinet radio out on the lawn and rigged it up so he could tune in on the game. Passersby saw Jones blissfully working away, with one ear cocked in the direction of the radio.

VOTE ON LEVY

Shelby Schools Need Money to Operate System.

SHELBY—A three-mill levy for operation of the Shelby public school system will be presented to the voters at the election in November for renewal, school officials disclosed today.

The levy which has been passed by the voters for the past 20 years brings in a revenue of approximately $27,000 with the state adding an additional $3,000. to this amount, Supt. C. G. Keck of the schools revealed.

Due to fixed costs on operation of the schools, this levy is needed if the Shelby schools are to continue as they have in the past, Supt. Keck pointed out. The levy was approved to be renewed when the Shelby board of education held a recent meeting.

ILL TWO YEARS, DIES AT BUCYRUS

Mrs. Alma Howard Succumbs at Home of Son.

BUCYRUS — Mrs. Alma Howard, 78, died at the home of her son, Frank B. Howard, here Sunday night. She had been ill two years.

MEET TO DRAFT LEVY CAMPAIGN

Representatives From Civic Groups to Map Drive To Boost City Tax.

Plans for conducting a city-wide campaign to win approval of the one-mill operating levy at the Nov. 5 election will be formulated tomorrow night when representatives of Mansfield civic groups meet at City Hall.

Herbert R. Slough, named to head the drive at a meeting of the group last week, said purpose of the session was to complete organization, and outline plans for conveying the need of the levy to every voter in the city.

He said he hoped to name various committee chairmen to head the functions necessary to carry out an intense campaign.

The meeting has been called for 8 p. m. in the municipal courtroom. Representatives of 205 civic organizations have been invited to attend.

The levy was placed on the ballot at the Sept. 3 meeting of city council by unanimous vote, for the purpose of providing funds for increased operations of five city departments.

Approximately half of the anticipated money would be spent in the fire department, $17,000 for new equipment and $7,500 for four additional firemen. Approximately $10,000 would go to the police for new radio equipment and four additional patrolmen. A total of $10,000 is proposed for maintaining supervised playgrounds, $7,500 for permanent park improvements and $5,000 for developing airport facilities.

POLITICAL TEMPEST QUIETS IN DEFERENCE TO HORNER DEATH

CHICAGO —(AP)— The political tempest of a presidential election year simmered down to a whisper in Illinois today as the body of the late Gov. Henry Horner lay in state for a military funeral tomorrow.

Party and factional differences were temporarily brushed aside as Republican and Democratic leaders alike paid tribute to the 61 year old only two-term Democratic Illinois governor who died early Sunday at suburban Winnetka after two years' illness.

Official mourning for ten days, with flags at half staff on all public buildings, was proclaimed as the first official act of the new governor, John Steele, who banned a discussion of politics until after the funeral.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a. m. Tuesday in Chicago's 122nd Field Artillery armory. Rabbi Louis J. Mann of Sinai temple, will preside, assisted by a Catholic priest and Protestant minister. Twelve senior officers of the Illinois National Guard will be pallbearers. Burial will be near the body of the bachelor governor's mother in St. Mayriv cemetery in suburban Dunning.

From noon today until the hour of the funeral the body of the governor, a semi-invalid for 23 months, will lie in state.

Horner had been seriously ill since the November, 1938, election. Prior to his election as governor in 1932, he was probate judge of Cook county for 18 years.

Stelle, who will complete the term expiring Jan. 1, was a frequent intra-party political foe of Horner.

WHITEHEAD DIES

Had Served as Publicist For GOP and Chicago Fair.

COLUMBUS — (INS) — The Ohio Republican party today mourned the loss of George G. Whitehead, 52, for the past two years the party's public relations advisor and editor of the Ohio Republican News, who dropped dead of a heart attack while on a family reunion near Delaware.

Whitehead served as publicist for such notables as Clarence Darrow, Bing Crosby, Clark Gable and Alice Nielsen, as well as press agenting the Century of Progress at Chicago and the San Diego, Dallas and Cleveland expositions.

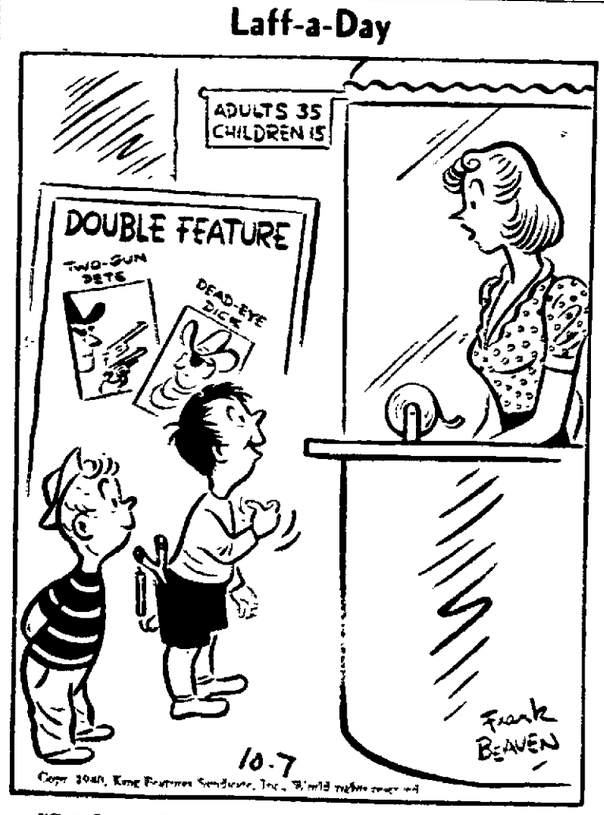

He was born in Kentucky, but lived most of his life in Cincinnati. Graduated from Ohio Wesleyan university in 1909, he has served on the university's board of directors for the last six years.

VIOLENT DEATH TOLL FOR OHIO 21 IN WEEK-END

Man Injured When Struck By Auto on Highway; Drivers Fined In Court.

One pedestrian was injured, and nine persons were arrested for traffic violations in the Richland county area yesterday and today, while death struck down at least 21 persons 17 of them traffic victims, in Ohio over the week-end.

Sideswiped and thrown from the road while walking south on route 39, five miles north of Mansfield, Lewis Kleilein, R. D. 2 Mansfield, was in General hospital today with a possible fracture of the elbow and numerous cuts and bruises. The auto was driven by Sterling Smith, 17, R. D. 2, Shelby.

Smith was exonerated by highway patrolmen yesterday, after the accident had been investigated.

Patrolmen also investigated an accident this morning in which a car driven by Ruth Muman, 22, Mt. Vernon, turned over on Rute 13, five miles south of Bellville.

According to patrolmen, Miss Muman's auto skidded when she applied her brakes on the wet pavement. She was uninjured.

Also uninjured when his car turned over on Route 30, three miles east of Hayesville, was Barry B. Geltener, 19, of Chicago. Patrolmen said Geltener lost control of his vehicle while rounding a curve.

Nine persons were fined, four in municipal court this morning, and five in courts in Ashalnd, Mt. Gilead and Loudonville yesterday, for traffic violations over the week-end.

Fined in municipal court this morning were:

Clarence H. Dilgard, 36, Ashland, $100 and costs for driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol, with driver's license revoked for one year; Edward Goettle, 693 Maple street, speeding, $10 and costs; Anthony Romer, Norwood, $10 and costs, speeding; and Clyde Fry, Ashland, operating a motor vehicle with plates belonging to another, $10 and costs.

Fined in Justice of the Peace R. R. Teeter's court yesterday were William A. Duval, 46, of University Heights, and James C. Reindle, 21, 128 Wolf avenue, for unsafe driving. Duval was fined $10 and costs, Reindle $5 and costs.

Fined $10 and costs in Mayor James P. Bennett's court for unsafe driving yesterday were Ada M. Kelly, R. D. 1, Milford, and Thomas W. Rainsberger, 23, Bellefontaine.

Tragic death struck down at least 21 persons in Ohio over the week-end. Seventeen of them were traffic victims.

Two automobiles collided at an intersection near Van Wert yesterday, killing Judge Earle F. Ferguson, 63, of Van Wert county common pleas court and Mrs. Ferguson. Mr. and Mrs. George Herman of Springfield, riding in the second automobile, were injured critically. Herman is past president of the Ohio Order of Eagles.

MRS. FAIR DIES

The Voice of BROADWAY

—By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

Speaking for Myself.

I am spectacularly opposed to babes in bands. A girl sitting at a piano looks fine, a lass with a harp in her lap looks natural, and some belles can get by with violins under their chins. But to my semi-artistic eye, a doll with a saxophone between her teeth or a tuba pointing at her tonsils is a dreadful sight to see. (Usually a frightful thing to hear, too, but that's another item.)

That is why all-girl bands, like circus freaks, puzzle me inordinately. I am curious to know why any girl would choose to blow her charm through a trumpet, just as I would like to know what made the tattooed lady get tattooed . . .

Washington crossing the Delaware had no problem at all compared to a taxi driver crossing West 46th street at 8:40 these evenings . . . I think Mickey Rooney is getting prettier.

Movie magazine sob writers who periodically moan that fans are fickle should get a squint at "Queenie," the plump brunet who has been Harry Richman's most devout fan for 15 years.

She lives in the Bronx, but night after night she travels by subway and bus to the Riviera and stands at the entrance just to see Richman arrive in the early evening and depart in the early morning.

She has a ring, a compact and a brooch with his picture on it, and keeps voluminous scrapbooks of all his press notices.

She got her name (she doesn't like being called anything else) nine years ago when Richman was voted King of the Air in a popularity poll. She greeted him by saying "Hello, King," and Richman replied, "Hiya, Queenie." She's been the No. 1 fan of the town since then.

Food served on airplanes always tastes wonderful—to me—or maybe I'm just captured by the idea of eating my chicken in one town and my cookies in another . . . I never want to be present when one of the Rockefellers misses a step—I'd be so humiliated, even from the mezzanine. . .

I love to watch Bert Wheeler rhumba at the Stork club—there's not much of him, but he makes every muscle count. . . . I see that elevator starters in some of the mid-town skyscrapers have adopted a new fad. Instead of using a "clacker" to signal the cars going up, they call out: "Contact!" . . .

Alma Ross, the beautiful hula dancer at the Hurricane, looks as if she could be the heroine of a book by Nordhoff and Hall . . . One of my favorite organizations—and one about which I know nothing beyond its fascinating name—is the Guild of Former Pipe Organ Pumpers.

Among the celebrities in the Guild are Bruce Barton, Will Hays, Admiral Byrd, and Clarence Budington Kelland.

I have an impulse to try what I understand is a Joan Crawford glamor trick. She sprinkles drops of perfume on her electric light bulbs and when the bulbs get hot, the scent fills the room. Mazda incense . . .

I can't keep a straight face when I watch an apache dance. The more serious the team takes it, the more I am constrained to giggle . . . I think people who walk bareheaded in the rain are not romantic, just nutty. . .

Milton Berle, in his new nose, is as lovely as the belles he takes out . . . Recipe for a rainy evening: Slippers, lamp, apple, Sherlock Holmes . . . I think the waiters at the Beachcomber should be called "Proser-servers."

Things I will never do: Ride a surf-board behind the motor boat, climb Pikes Peak, drink two Zombies.

I like men whose shoes are shined . . . Some day I hope to see a couple of irresistible forces clash—like an insurance man trying to sell a song plugger . . . Dictionaries fascinate me, and also trap me. Whenever I delve into one to look up a word, my eye is always caught by another word, and first thing I know I am settling down to a quiet lexicographical hour . . .

Cary Grant is much better in light Roz Russell and Irene Dunne comedies than he is in epics like "The Howards of Virginia." That accent he had was a combination of Scotch mountaineer and Brooklyn. Wow! . . .

I love Paul Hartman's explanation of why it's easy for him to be funny. "I don't even have to try to be amusing when I'm dancing," he says, "all I ask is that they look at my face."

* * *

My favorite thumb-nail description is Deems Taylor's portrait of Jeanette MacDonald. He calls her "The Iron Butterfly" . . . No matter what the temperature outside I can always tell when the football season is on by sitting around Leone's or Toots Shor's.

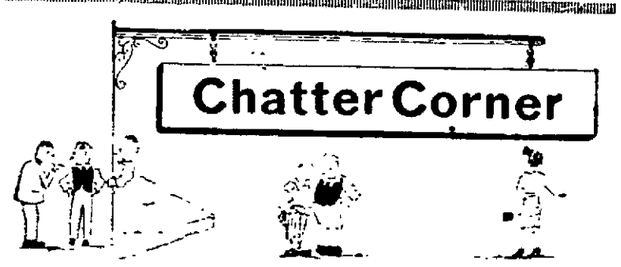

Come October in these inns, the one topic of conversation is football—last week's games, the coming week's games, and a lot of "how much will you give me on Minnesota" talk.

Some of the wing-back, three back, tail-back discussion is beyond my rudimentary feminine knowledge of the game, so I just sit and figure out, not the probable scores, but what hat to wear while I watch them make them.

The idea of commuting to Greenwich or Pelham appalls me beyond description, but I would not mind having a suburban home if I could get to and from the city by yacht or plane . . .

My favorite policeman's horse is the one that belongs to Walter Diamond, of the mounted force. This horse, whose name I am sorry to say I do not know, is a temperamental creature. He is well-behaved on any street in New York except one. He just cannot stand 50th street, between Broadway nad Seventh.

Walters Faces Rowe as Reds Try to Even World Series

Experts Think Classic Will Last 7 Games

Bobo Newson Hurls Brilliant Ball As Tigers Take Edge With 8-0 Win.

By GAYLE TALBOT

CINCINNATI—(AP)—One of the most unexciting world series in memory came back to this city today for a return engagement, with the Detroit Tigers leading the Cincinnati Reds three victories to two and needing only one more to make it blanko

The general expectation was that the war of attrition would continue to the bitter end, that today was the Reds' turn to win, and that the 1940 baseball championship would finally be decided late tomorrow but with everybody concerned bordering upon complete exhaustion

Shutout 8 to 0 by a grieving but brilliant Bobo Newsom in yesterday's fifth game at Detroit, the Reds figured to square it at three-all today behind Bucky Walters, who tamed the Tigers with a three-hitter in the second game here last week.

Bucky's scheduled mound rival again was Schoolboy Rowe, who got rough treatment from the Reds the last time he faced them Manager Del Baker, of course, hoped that "Schoolie" had recovered his stuff since then and would knock the Reds kicking today.

Like everyone else around here, Baker, down in his heart, must have felt that the final decisive struggle would be fought on Crosley field tomorrow, his great Buck Newsom coming back with one day's rest to oppose Cincinnati's Paul Derringer, who defeated the Tigers, 3 to 2, in last Saturday's fourth game

If it comes about, that will be something to see And it's about time. Up to this point, the world series of 1940 has been a turkey, as the Broadway drama critics like to say. The five games played have been won and lost almost at the outset. The crowds here and at Detroit simply sat out the latter stages of each

Take Newsom yesterday. His aged father had died after seeing his big son pitch the opening victory in Cincinnati, and Buck was strung up like a fiddle emotionally. When he went to the hill again he was determined to pitch another "for Dad" And he did He pitched one of the greatest games of his life But his teammates battered the Red pitchers starting with Junior Thompson, so quickly and violently that Buck's magnificent effort practically was wasted.

The second guessers even were saying that Baker would have been smart to pull Newsom from the game after Detroit piled up a 7 to 0 lead in the fourth inning and save him for what might be the deciding bout tomorrow. Baker might have done it at that, they say, except that Newsom was so wrapped up in "pitching another one for dad" that it would have broken his heart anew. The big pitcher, once he had won, cried in the dressing room

He gave the Reds only three hits, one a grounder past Dick Bartell. Only one Red reached second base. He struck out seven Cincinnati batters and got two strikes on 11 others before they took a futile swipe at the ball. Newsom walked only two.

* * *

But even such pitching excellence began to pall on the crowd of 55,000 before it was over The most noise the crowd made, and the one time it seemed to yell spontaneously, was in the seventh frame when Frank McCormick of the Reds blasted one high and far down the left field line.

BANTAMWEIGHTS LOSE

The Eagles lodge bantamweight football team, making its first home appearance of the season at the Fairground yesterday afternoon, were edged by the Akron Bees 6 to 0 before a crowd estimated at 300 The loss was the second for the Eagles team this year.

SPORTS PARADE

By HENRY McLEMORE

CINCINNATI — (U.P.) — Darwin must have been right insofar as my own branch of the human family was concerned, else how could I be so at home out on a limb?

* * *

I tip-toed lightly out on a limb when I picked Cincinnati to win the world series days before the thing started. That was monkey business of the first order, because the National League hasn't won a series since the red coats burned the White House in 1814. (Note to purists: I know, I know, it wasn't known as the White House until a few years after that burning.)

* * *

Now, with Cincinnati behind two games to three, I am going to scamper further out on the same limb and re-pick the Reds to beat the Detroit Tigers. In seven games, Detroit has done all the winning that it is going to do.

I am not entirely alone in this confidence in the Reds, because the bookmakers have made the Reds even money favorites to take the series. If you want to know why this state of affairs exists, I'll tell you

To start with, Bucky Walters goes today for the Reds Bucky the handsome boy who turned from third-base to become one of the grestest pitchers in the game. He domesticated the Tigers in the second game of the series, giving them just three hits No body hit the ball very hard that day. The Greenbergs, the McCoskys and the Gehringers don't run wild when they have to look at pitching.

So, we give the Reds today's game. In other words, we allow as how Walters holds the Tigers while the Reds work on Schoolboy Rowe. The School Boy is not the pitcher he was a few years ago. He made a come back, all right, and more power to him, but his fast one's gone. He hasn't his "sudden" any more to use a baseball term

And that was mighty near all he ever had. He has to rely on cuteness now, and the Reds love that. Being cute themselves, with no power, they operate best when faced by a pitcher who has to guess along with them.

Now, giving today's game to the Reds, which evens the series, who must you ride with in the pay-off seventh? Detroit will have no one to pitch. No fresh hurler, that's sure Newsom has done his job. Bridges has reached the age where he needs a week of rest to restore the elasticity to his arm. That leaves only the likes of Trout, Gorsica, McKain and a group of delightful humpty-dumpties

Cincinnati will have Derringer to go. Big Paul can get by with one day of rest. Given two days he can reach peak efficiency. And Derringer, now that he has won a world series game, proved to himself that he has the stuff of which world series winners are made, will be a loose, tough, hard, ornery guy to hoe.

So I give you Cincinnati as the world series winner.

Leaders Emerge From Football Confusion

Suspense!---Fair Or Foul?

This dramatic photo of a bit of nerve-straining suspense was snapped during the third game of the world series, played in Detroit, when Frank McCormick of the Cincinnati Reds dribbled a slow roller down the third base line. In this group watching anxiously to see whether the ball will roll foul or remain in fair territory are, left to right, Pitcher Tommy Bridges, Manager Bill McKechnie of the Reds, Catcher Birdie Tebbetts, Umpire Ballanfant, Third Baseman Pinky Higgins, Shortstop Dick Bartell and Umpire "Red" Ormsby. The ball finally rolled foul.

Supplies Suffer Third Straight Grid Defeat

A 35-YARD PASS in the last two minutes of play gave the Canton Bull Dogs a 6 to 0 victory over the Mansfield Automotive Supply semi-pro football team at Canton yesterday.

* * *

The loss was the third straight for the Mansfielders in as many starts. In the first two tilts they were defeated by McKeesport, Pa, and the Akron Awnings.

* * *

Failing to penetrate the Supplies' line, the Bull Dogs connected for a 35-yard pass in the last two minutes of the game for their lone score.

* * *

Although outweighed by the Canton eleven, the Supplies stopped the Bull Dogs in four scoring attempts, holding them on the four, three and eight-yard lines.

* * *

Mansfield had three scoring opportunities but could not break through the Canton line.

First Wrestling Match Will Be Held In Mansfield Tonight

WRESTLING takes over the sports front in Mansfield tonight when the season's initial show will be presented by Promoter Bob Steele at the Doebla-Soprana Athletic club at 32 East Third street.

It marks the first time Steele, a wrestler, who appeared on several cards during the 1939-40 season in Mansfield, has tried his hand at promoting.

A card, headed by a match between the Black Panther and Gil LaCross, will be staged. The affair will be for the best two-out-of-three fall with an hour-and-a-half time limit.

TRAMMELL GETS CHANCE

YOUNGSTOWN —(INS)— Jack Trammell gets his chance tonight to step up a rung on the heavyweight ladder in a battle with Boston [illegible], ranked sixth in the heavyweight list, at the Arena Sporting club.

XAVIER STOPS GRIDDERS

CINCINNATI —(INS)— Xavier university's Musketeers today possessed their second victory in three starts, a 19 to 6 win over St. Joseph's college played Sunday in Xavier stadium. Chet Mutryn, Cleveland sophomore halfback, paced the Xavier running attack [illegible] town and [illegible] scoring runs.

Cornell and Tennessee In List of Top-Ranking National Clubs.

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK— (AP) —With the second week of October, it is becoming possible to pick out the leaders among major college football teams on the basis of performances rather than predictions.

* * *

Top ranking in the various sections, on present performances must be awarded to Cornell, Georgetown, Boston College and possibly Pennsylvania in the east; Tennessee, Kentucky, Wake Forest and Clemson in the south; Michigan, Ohio State and several of their challengers in the middle west; Texas, Texas Christian and Texas Tech in the southwest and Stanford and Santa Clara on the Pacific coast.

The setup looks like this:

Cornell walloped Colgate 34-0 Saturday. The Big Red team's power was checked but it uncovered a new passing game that makes it look like a cinch to retain its unofficial eastern title. Cornell plays Army at West Point this week.

Georgetown beat Temple 14-0 Friday and now goes back into the "breather" class with Waynesburg while Temple's Owls face Boston College, idle last Saturday.

Last week's upsets have taken some of the edge off this week's program. Dartmouth, conquered by little Franklin and Marshall, 23-21, meets Columbia, 15-0 winner over Maine. New York University, upset 9-6 by Lafayette, plays Syracuse, 40-0 victim of Northwestern and Colgate meets Brown, an unimpressive winner.

Intersectional games furnish most of the "meat" with Michigan's great team, which beat Michigan State 21-14 faces Harvard, Pitt, which came back to beat Missouri 19-13, tackles Southern Methodist, rated one of the Southwest Conference powers; Fordham 20-7 winner over West Virginia, meets Tulane, which lost its second game to Auburn 20-14.

The nine-team Western conference maintained its excellent record when only Indiana lost to outside opposition and underdog Purdue sprang a big surprise by holding Ohio State to a 17-14 score in the first conference game. This week the Buckeyes encounter Northwestern, while Purdue plays Michigan State. Indiana, beaten by Texas 13-6, plays Nebraska, which lost to Minnesota 13-7; Iowa, 46-0 winner over South Dakota, plays Wisconsin, which beat Marquette by a surprising 33-19 count. Illinois, after 31-0 tuneup against Bradley, takes on Southern California.

Texas Christian, leading after a 20-0 win over Arkansas, plays North Carolina. S. M. U. and Rice turned in easy victories over North Texas and Centenary, respectively.

* * *

Tennessee's 14-0 triumph over Duke put the Vols temporarily at the top of the Southeastern circuit and this week's Chattanooga game can't hurt them much.

Newark Downs Colonels 6-2

Bears Need One More Win To Cop Little World Series.

NEWARK, N. J. —(AP)— The Newark Bears, intent on showing up their Kansas City cousins, will send George Washburn, ace of their pitching staff, to the mound tonight in an attempt to register their fourth victory over the Louisville Colonels and snare the little world series trophy.

* * *

Confronting the International league playoff winners, however, will be the ominous figure of Cecil (Tex) Hughson, Colonel hurler who was credited with the American association entry's only victory thus far in the four games played of the best-of-seven series.

Newark, aided by Leroy (Tarzan) Parmelee, Louisville pitcher, gained its third victory over the Colonels yesterday at Ruppert stadium, 6 to 2.

The Bears got their first run in the opening frame in the orthodox manner, but Parmelee ran true to form in the third and fourth innings and uncorked four wild pitches to let in three Newark runs.

Light Shower Not To Hold Up Fifth Contest.

CINCINNATI—INS—A light shower falling in Cincinnati this morning was expected to stop in time to permit the sixth world series baseball game between the Cincinnati Reds and the Detroit Tigers, the weather bureau reported. Fair skies were predicted for the afternoon, with the coolest weather of the series in prospect. The temperature was expected to remain in the low seventies.

1940 Classic First Million Dollar Series Since 1937

By DALE STAFFORD

CINCINNATI —(AP)— The 1940 world series is the first million dollar series since 1937 and the ninth in history.

* * *

After the fifth game at Detroit yesterday the receipts totaled $1,057,598.10, including $100,000 received from the sale of the broadcasting rights which went into the players' pool.

* * *

In event the present series goes seven full games and the gate receipts at Cincinnati are up to the standard of the first two contests, the all-time record gate of $1,304,399 for series competition, set in 1936 by the New York Yankees and New York Giants, will be in danger.

Yesterday's attendance of 55,189 and a gate of $224,597 at Detroit was the largest to date for a 1940 series game.

Best series play to date was contributed in the eighth inning yesterday by Jimmy Ripple, Cincinnati left-fielder. Billy Sullivan, a left-handed batsman, pounded the ball to deep left field in the eighth inning and Ripple hauled it in after a long run, falling on his back after getting the horsehide.

* * *

Whitey Moore, Cincinnati right-hander, may get a series record for relief pitching. He has rescued a teammate in the first, third and fifth contests.

* * *

Members of the teams are batting for approximately $2,000 a man. The Tigers, who cut in no less than 48 persons on their series money, will collect slightly in excess of $6,000 if they win and a little more than $4,000 each if they lose. Cincinnati's cuts are slightly larger, due to a lesser number of shares.

Redskins Head Pro League

Defeat Pittsburgh, 40 to 10, For Third Straight Win.

CHICAGO—(AP)—The undefeated Washington Redskins have taken all of their oponents to the cleaners and stand now as the only unbeaten and untied team in the National league.

The Redskins rang up their third straight victory Sunday, a 40 to 10 triumph over the Pittsburgh Steelers before 25,213 spectators in Forbes field.

* * *

The Chicago Bears moved into a first place tie with Green Bay in the Western division by outlasting Cleveland, 21 to 14, before a crowd of 18,998.

* * *

The Chicago Cardinals fell before the Detroit Lions, 43 to 14, Saturday night and Brooklyn moved through Philadelphia, 30 to 17, in a Friday night engagement.

* * *

A full schedule of five games is on tap next Sunday, featuring Cleveland's game with Green Bay and Detroit's test with the Bears.

Ohio Prince Walks Off With Field Trial Honors.

Ohio Prince, owned by Clyde Moore and Roy Metz of Mansfield, walked off with top honors in the Clark county field trails at Springfield last week-end. The Mansfield dog took first in the tree and line events. Another Mansfield dog, Silver Cloud, owned by Can Cloes won second line.

Bears Register Easy Triumph

Chicago Pros Turn Back Rams, 21 to 14.

CLEVELAND —(UP)— Piling up two touchdowns in the second period and another in the third, the powerful Chicago Bears easily sailed through the Cleveland Rams to a 21-14 victory Sunday before 18,998

A pass fumble in the second-period gave the Bears the ball on Cleveland's 14 and George McAfee, Ironton's ex-Duke sensation, zipped through left tackle for the initial touchdown. Behind a strong passing attack Chicago marched 59 yards in six plays for another touchdown with Masterson scoring.

Parker Hall, ace Cleveland passer, rifled three in a row to put the pigskin on the Chicago 11 where he rounded end for the first Ram score Chicago easily scored again and Cleveland fought back 76 yards on the kickoff and Hall's passing clicked again He passed to Magnani for the final Cleveland tally.

SEC. 2.--That the grade of said street as improved shall be the established grade.

SEC. 3.—That the plans, specifications, and profiles of the proposed improvement heretofore prepared by the City Civil Engineer and now on file in the office of the Department of Public Service, be and the same are hereby approved.

SEC 4.--That the whole cost of said improvement, less the cost of intersections and one-fiftieth of the total cost shall be assessed by the foot front upon the following described lots and lands, to-wit; all lots and lands bounding and abutting upon the proposed improvement which said lots and lands are hereby determined to be specifically benefitted by said improvement; and the cost of said improvement shall include the expense of printing, publishing and serving the necessary legal notices, the printing and publishing of the necessary resolutions and ordinances, the cost of construction and inspection together with interest on bonds issued in anticipation of the collection of deferred assessments, and all other necessary expenditures.

SEC 5.—That the assessments so to be levied shall be paid in three annual installments, with interest on deferred payments at the same rate as borne by the bonds to be issued therefor; provided that the owner of any property assessed may, at his option, pay such assessment in cash within thirty days from and after the passage of the assessing ordinance in which case said cash assessment shall not include any item of interest upon bonds to be issued in anticipation of the collection of deferred installments of assessments.

SEC. 6.—That bonds of the City of Mansfield shall be issued in anticipation of the collection of assessments by installments and in an amount equal thereto.

SEC. 7.—That the remainder of the entire cost of said improvement, not specially assessed, including the cost of intersections, together with the cost of any real estate or interest therein, purchased or appropriated, and the cost and expense of any appropriation proceeding therefor, and the damages awarded any owner of adjoining or abutting lands and interest thereon, and the cost and expense of such award shall be paid by the City of Mansfield, Ohio, in the manner provided by law.

SEC. 8.—This resolution shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Passed October 1, 1940

(Signed) HOWARD G. MILLER, President of Council.

(Approved) W. J. LOCKE, Mayor.

(Attest) WM. J. BEER, JR., Clerk of Council.

A PEOPLE KEPT IN IGNORANCE IS A NATION Enslaved..

In America the People Have

1. FREEDOM OF SPEECH
2. FREEDOM OF WORSHIP
3. FREEDOM OF ASSEMBLY
4. FREEDOM OF THE PRESS

"And These Shall Never Pass Away"

The world has learned many lessons since a Hitler strode across the stage destroying, corrupting, hating. It has looked at this horror and seen one inalterable fact—that the disease of fascism first strikes at the Press!

Once the Press loses its voice, the people are blinded to the truth, gagged, silenced. Once the Press is dictated to, the people are put in chains—and fascism plants its barbarism upon a nation.

Wherever dictatorship has come intor power, the first shadow of its coming has been cast upon the pages of the Press . . . If in America, the Press is ever denied its right to differ, argue, opinionate; if it be deprived of its inalienable heritage to cry out against injustice, to challenge corruption—then the Bill of Rights would be dead, the Declaration of Independence a memory, the Constitution a myth—and America a land of goose-steps!

Consider the Press abroad—silenced, inert, decadent; told what to write, when to write, how to write! Consider the people abroad—crushed, blinded, gagged; told what to do, when to do it, how to do it!

Fascism annihilates the liberties of all by first crushing the Press. With a free Press dead, the people are easier victims . . . this is the picture under Fascism!

IN AMERICA THE PRESS IS FREE — PRODUCT AND GUARDIAN OF DEMOCRACY . .

LET'S KEEP IT FREE!

Let us face facts . . . Today, free men and free institutions are fighting for their very lives. Leading this fight for freedom in America is the Press! The very heart of liberty, the very core of our heritage is in the Press. That truth can no longer be mumbled or mouthed in truisms. It must now become a salient, fighting message for the American people. During the years that this nation has forged ahead as the outstanding champion of civilization as we know it, the Press has clarioned the voice of the people. Never once has it faltered, never once has it laid down its cudgels in behalf of truth and justice. While there is darkness in the world, the Press will struggle to bring light. It is your weapon against chaos.

Steels and General Electric In List Receiving Small Support In Market.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Operations in the stock market were on a small scale today and prices moderately mixed in virtually all departments.

Attracting mild support were U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Crucible Steel, Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, N. Y. Central, General Electric, Du Pont, Eastman Kodak, Kennecott and Budd Mfg. preferred.

Bonds and commodities were a trifle uneven.

Notice was taken of the magazine "Steel" survey which said that, in addition to increasing government armament requirements, mills were receiving orders from a wide variety of miscellaneous customers.

Anxiety of private sources to cover requirements, it was found, has resulted in some purchases for first quarter delivery at prices which prevailed at that time.

Helpful were estimates consumer buying power for the country is now around the highest level in a decade.

SENT TO 'WORKS'

Two Men Draw Sentences To Columbus Institution.

Two men were ordered committed to the Columbus workhouse today to "sit out" fines imposed for intoxication, one because he failed to leave the county and the other for being a habitual drunkard.

Frank Turner, transient, pleaded guilty to the charge when arraigned in municipal court this morning and Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch fined him $10 and costs and revoked a suspended $50 fine given him Saturday on the condition that he leave the city.

Bellville authorities said they picked Turner up yesterday afternoon and put him in jail. He was released in the evening and told to leave the village but an hour later was found intoxicated.

Pleading guilty to habitual intoxication, Adam Horvath, Mansfield, was given a $75 fine and ordered committed to the workhouse until the fine and costs were paid.

GERMAN TROOPS ON MARCH INTO BALKAN AREA

Action 'To Protect Rumania' Follows Hitler-Duce Conference.

Rumania some time ago to prepare the ground.

Details as to the actual number of troops going to Rumania were not revealed, but observers said that by sending forces to the southeast Germany might cooperate with Italy in forming a military "pincer" against the British in the Mediterranean region.

Nazis Expected To Protect Oil Fields

BUCHAREST —(UP)— German troops are in Rumania and additional units are expected today or tomorrow by airplane, usually well informed sources said today.

The troops brought motorized equipment.

Informants estimated that approximately 15,000, or one division, would arrive by tomorrow. There were unconfirmed reports that two more divisions might follow.

It was reported that the Rumanian government had agreed to the entry of German troops, both to guard the oil fields and to aid in training and reorganizing the Rumanian army, possibly with the cooperation of Italian units.

Informants suggested, however, that the German troop movements were a direct consequence of charges by the Rumanian government of a plot by British oil men with interests in this country to blow up oil fields.

(In Berlin the Rumanian legation said German troops had arrived in Rumania to "train and reorganize the army" and that numerous Italian troops were expected to aid in the "training." The legation said it knew nothing of reports that the German troops would guard oil fields and air ports.)

It was understood that the German troops who had already arrived had been based in the oil fields in northeast Rumania, and between Ploesti (35 miles north of Bucharest, the oil fields, and the Danubian port of Giurgiu from which oil is shipped.

Germany was reported to have taken an exceedingly grave view of official allegations of a plot by British oil men in Rumania to put the oil fields out of action. Arrests of British oil men, some of whom are awaiting trial, caused a crisis in relations between Rumania and Great Britain.

Duce Inspects Troops In Northeast Italy

ROME—(AP)—Premier Mussolini moved rapidly through northeastern Italy today inquiring into the readiness of his trained troops while his people and the world waited for some indication from him on what Axis move his Brenner pass parley with Adolf Hitler might foreshadow.

The Italian high command, meanwhile, claimed another British subm[illegible]e had fallen victim to the same flotilla of motor torpedo boats which was reported yesterday to have sunk a British undersea craft.

The communique also said a British sumbarine had come out of the sea and thrown shells into the city of Savona, in northwestern Italy near Genoa, killing a civilian and injuring six others.

Naval casualties during September were listed as 55 Italian officers and sailors, five African native sailors and two civilian workers killed. The missing totaled 116 and 60 were drowned.

Decisions reached at Friday's Brenner pass meeting of Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini "will be translated into facts . . . in a while," in the opinion of Giovanni Ansaldo, editor of Foreign Minister Count Ciano's newspaper Il Telegrafo.

Hungarian Papers Charge Atrocities

BUDAPEST (INS) A new Rumanian-Hungarian crisis developed today as Budapest newspapers charged Rumania with wholesale mistreatment of the remaining Hungarian minority.

The press charges, obviously government-inspired, were made in the wake of reports of Rumanian atrocities, including the alleged slaying of 38 Hungarian inmates of a concentration camp.

The semi-official Hungarian newspaper Pester Lloyd [illegible] warned that the R[illegible]man actions would have "serious consequences."

It was believed that the anti-Rumanian press [illegible] fore-shadow a Hungar[illegible] demand that the rest of Transylvania [illegible] ceded to Hungary as a means of "protecting" the Hungarian [illegible].

Rumania ceded [illegible] Transylvania to Hungary [illegible] after Germany and Italy [illegible] a settlement of Rumanian-Hungarian problems.

can desires. And as a result of naval demonstrations in the Pacific.

Anti-Japanese expressions of disapproval finally bore fruit in abrogation of the (American-Japanese) commercial treaty and culminated in an embargo.

The tripartite pact (linking Japan, Germany and Italy in a defensive alliance) is Japan's answer to the above American attitude and policy.

Japan takes the stand that the status quo of the past has not contributed at all to world civilization. Her mind is made up firmly in the creation and establishment of a new world order, based upon a new and true conception of international justice and equality.—Equality among all races of the world and abandonment of the exploitation of weaker nations.

Should America aggravate Japanese feelings any further by naval demonstrations or encouragement of alleged British-Australian embargoes on oil, et cetera, the Japanese people cannot help but regard these acts as tantamount to a declaration of war.

The Japanese people fail to understand why America should attempt to extend her influence beyond the 180th meridian.

With British cession of naval outposts, America has already changed the status quo in the Atlantic. If Japan interferes, how would the American people feel about it?

In view of this, any action America takes to interfere with Japanese actions in the far east will naturally provoke strong hostility among the Japanese people.

The American people themselves some 300 years ago migrated from the old world to the new continent. Later, with the Revolutionary war, they succeeded in establishing their new order.

The time has come again for a reshuffling. This is what is happening in the east today. A true recognition of this fact will be the first common ground upon which an American-Japanese accord may be reached, and approach to its rests with the American attitude and appreciation.

U. S.-London Axis Seen Being Forged

WASHINGTON — (INS) — A "Washington-London Axis" to coordinate policy and protect the interests of America and Britain in the Far East is being forged under the heat of Japan's expansionist policies, diplomatic observers believed today.

The eastern pole of this "Axis" it was said, eventually may extend to Moscow.

The use of the current term "Axis" does not imply an alliance or written guarantees of the type subscribed to last week by Berlin, Rome and Tokyo. Such an agreement would be contrary to America's traditional policy of avoiding "entangling alliances."

But, for all practical purposes, the working agreement envisioned in the series of conversations that have been carried on for a month by Secretary of State Cordell Hull and Lord Lothian, the British ambassador (the last such talk was held Saturday) is expected to be as effective in operation as a formal agreement.

Both Hull and Lothian have been tight-lipped about their conversations, but informed sources understand the talks have dealt with these two primary topics:

1. Measures of economic cooperation to weaken Japan's war machine in case Tokyo continues its "march through Asia." Together, America and London control all the major sources of supply of such vital military sinews as iron, oil and rubber.

2. Measures of military and naval cooperation in the event of a [illegible] eastern emergency. It is understood that this would include [illegible] the U. S. fleet of the Great Britain base at Singapore.

Richland Sales Tax Receipts Above State Average.

While the state was checking up an 18 per cent gain in sales tax collections for the week ending Sept. 21, Richland county's gains totaled 25 per cent, a report from State Treasurer Don H. Ebright showed today.

Receipts in the county for that week amounted to $9,683 as compared to $7,719 in the corresponding week last year.

Collections in the county to Sept. 21 were up about $60,000 over receipts to the same date last year, the report showed. County collections so far total $411,071.

Receipts for the year in Ohio have mounted to $35,676,722, an increase of approximately $4,000,000.

FUNERAL SET

George P. Thaler, 32, Dies at Galion Hospital.

GALION—Funeral services for George P. Thaler, 32, well known Galion member of the Thaler and Amick plumbing and tinning firm, will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the First Lutheran church, Rev. P. E. Auer, pastor of the Peace Lutheran church, will officiate, and burial will be made in Fairview cemetery in charge of the Snyder funeral home. Friends may call at the Thaler home, 230 Walker street any time.

Mr. Thaler died Saturday afternoon at the Good Samaritan hospital. He had been ill for one week.

He was born in Columbus, July 21, 1908, the son of Veit and Regina Frederick Thaler. For the past 22 years he had lived in Galion, coming here from Columbus. His marriage to Clara Shepard took place July 3, 1938.

Besides his widow, he is survived by a sister, Mrs. W. P. Evans of Columbus.

He was a member of the Peace Lutheran church, the Galion lodge of Elks, and the Master Plumbers' association.

WRITER ORDERED TO LEAVE ITALY

New York Times Correspondent Expelled For Dispatch.

ROME — (UP) - Herbert Matthews, correspondent of the New York Times, was ordered expelled from Italy today.

An official communique said Matthews had been "invited to leave Italy for one of his dispatches to the New York Times wherein he falsely stated that Italy and the Axis would interfere in the United States presidential elections. The dispatch tended to disturb relations between the countries."

cost of a new bridge," he added.

Cost of the structure over Touby's Run just north of the Erie tracks was estimated at $18,000. The old bridge collapsed more than a year ago and the county erected a temporary structure which has been in use since then.

"We went to city council with a request for funds for a third of the cost of a bridge and were told the city didn't have the money," Mitchell said.

State highway engineers said a state law requires that the county commissioners build bridges on state routes inside corporation limits, paying the entire cost.

Offers to Pay Third.

Murray D. Shaffer, Ashland district state highway engineer, said the state offered to pay a third of the cost several months ago, but received no favorable response from the county commissioners. Shaffer said he believed the offer still holds.

Shaffer added that the state highway department had been "kind to Richland county" in helping to finance projects and in offering to share a part of the cost of the North Main street bridge which is wholly an obligation of the county.

WIDOW, 75, DIES

Rites for Mrs. Katherine Smith To Be Held Wednesday.

A lingering illness resulted in the death Sunday at the Hill Top Nursing home in East Mansfield of Mrs. Katherine Smith, 75, of 186 South Main street. She was the widow of Edward Smith.

Born Dec. 31, 1866 at Lock Haven, Pa., Mrs. Smith moved to Loudonville at an early age and spent 20 years in Honolulu. She came to Mansfield seven years ago. She was a member of the Trinity Evangelical and Reformed church at Loudonville.

Surviving are a brother, Fred Hummel of Honolulu; two sisters, Miss Minnie Smith and Miss Elizabeth Hummel of Mansfield.

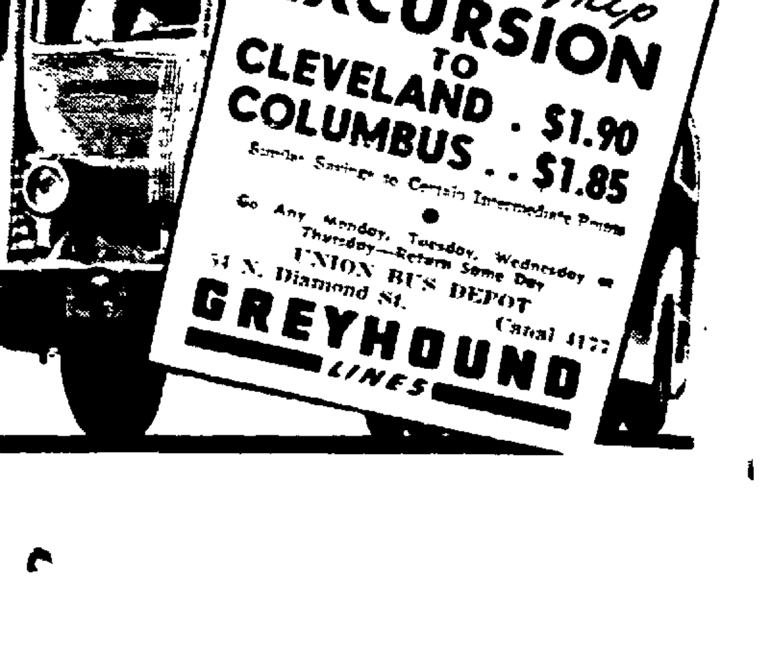

The body was removed to the Wappner funeral home where services will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday in charge of Rev. Krause of Loudonville. Burial will be in Loudonville cemetery. The family requests that flowers be omitted.

OHIO CONSIDERED

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Ohio is one of four states being considered by the navy as a site for a gun parts manufacturing plant costing approximately $10,000,000 and employing 1,500 persons. Rear Admiral William R. Furlong, ordnance bureau head, said sites were being surveyed in Pennsylvania, Indiana and Illinois in addition to Ohio.

DRAFT RULINGS ARE DUE TODAY

Deferment Classification To Be Included In Third Book Issued.

order in which they are to be selected.

To obtain deferment the registrant will have to submit affidavits from his employer showing him to be essential to some industry. If the deferment claim is based on his having dependents, an affidavit will have to be submitted from those whose dependency is claimed.

The regulations probably will provide that any person deferred for any reason will be obliged to appear before the local board at the end of each six months to establish that his original claim for deferment still is good.

Other steps to be taken by conscription officials this week to get the draft machinery ready include:

Appointment of the 25,000 members of the 6,500 local draft boards by President Roosevelt. Names of the appointees who have been nominated by state governors will be announced at the draft headquarters of each state.

Appointment of 6,500 doctors and 6,500 lawyers—one for each draft area—to work with boards, the doctors as examiners of physical fitness and the lawyers as advisers to registrants and in appeals regarding deferment.

Announcement probably tomorrow of conscription quotas for each state.

Twenty Counties Lag In Naming Boards

COLUMBUS—(UP)—State draft headquarters today awaited recommendations from 20 lagging counties among Ohio's 88 before submitting proposed members for local draft boards to Governor Bricker.

The governor must pass on the lists and then pass them on to President Roosevelt for final appointment or rejection. Each of the 334 or 336 Ohio draft boards will have five members. The exact number of boards depends upon a definite decision on the Cuyahoga county set-up.

While routine operations went forward for organization of Ohio's registration and conscription machinery, several hundred naval reservists in the state were "standing by" for possible call as result of an order by Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox.

5,000 Present As Club Holds Races At Pleasant Hill

An estimated crowd of 5,000 gathered at the Pleasant Hill dam yesterday to witness 35 professional motor boat racers vie for racing honors.

Motor boat racers from Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Michigan and Ohio were on hand to give racing enthusiasts a real taste of the sport, Kent Rummel, commodore of the Pleasant Hill Boat club said today.

Races for Class C service runabouts, Class R racing runabouts, and free for all for runabouts were held at the dam yesterday.

Committee in charge of the races was composed of Verne Jones, chairman, Sherm Glessner, William Bissman, Russell Coleman, Al Hachlon, Al Brogman, and C. J. Baumberger, all members of the Pleasant Hill Boat club.

Nazis Claim Hit On Large Gas Plant

BERLIN — (AP) — Explosion of a large gas plant in London, followed by a great fire, and severe damaging of a waterworks as a result of German air raids yesterday and last night were reported today by the German high command.

Railway stations and tracks were struck by heavy bombs, it reported, and hangars and numerous airplanes on the ground were destroyed in attacks on airports.

Armament factories were raided by "scattered planes" in southern England, it added, while "raids on several army camps south of London showed great effects with hits on barracks and other shelters.

Port facilities along the Thames and the southern and southeastern coasts also were attacked, it said, causing great fires at some points.

Informed German sources said Nazi bomber formations were active today, despite unsettled weather.

British Fliers Raid Coastal Objectives

LONDON — (AP) — British bombers attacked Nazi coastal objectives and shipping over an area stretching from Harlingen in The Netherlands to Boulogne in France in a series of daylight raids which began soon after dawn yesterday and lasted until late afternoon, the air ministry news service reported today.

Despite unrelenting bad weather, RAF bombers raided the "invasion ports" of Ostend, Calais and Boulogne, attacked the Diepholz airport in western Germany and bombed shipping in the Nazi-held Dutch harbors of Harlingen, Stavoren, Enkhuisen, Dordrecht and Den Helder.

One pilot of an American-built Hudson of the coastal command was cited particularly for "great gallantry" in an attack on two armed merchant ships off the Dutch coast. Although his plane was hit and set afire, the communique said, the flier "pressed home his attack" and his plane "eventually turned over and plunged headlong into the sea."

forces defeated a British army under Gen. John Burgoyne in one of the critical battles of the Revolutionary war.

The chief executive's special train was ordered to wait in Albany to take him back to Washington after he had dined at the home of Earl Miller at nearby Latham. Miller, now personnel director for the state board of correction, was a state trooper and a personal bodyguard for Mr. Roosevelt when he was governor of New York.

The president attended church yesterday morning, took a look at the excess profits tax bill, went on a long automobile ride under a warm October sun, and helped celebrate Mrs. Roosevelt's 56th birthday at a family dinner.

Mrs. Roosevelt will not be 56 until Friday, but both she and her husband will be traveling that day —the president on another defense inspection trip, in Pennsylvania and Ohio—so the anniversary was observed ahead of time.

Will Go To Dayton, Youngstown, Columb[us]

COLUMBUS— (UP) —Ohio made arrangements today to greet President Roosevelt when he travels through the state on Oct. 11 and 12 to inspect national defense projects.

The president will visit industrial sections of Youngstown on Friday, Oct. 11 coming on to Columbus the following day for conversations with officers at Fort Hayes, headquarters of the army fifth corps area and to inspect the post.

Republican Governor John W. Bricker has accepted the president's invitation to accompany him while in Columbus.

From here he will go to Dayton where he will deliver a "non-political" speech on the progress of national defense both to the nation and to other countries of the western hemisphere. The president will speak over a radio hookup from his private car in Dayton Saturday evening.

He will inspect the army aerial laboratory at Wright field and visit the Wright memorial. He plans also to see former Gov. James M. Cox, his running mate in the campaign of 1920.

The president's son, Elliott, is to report at Wright field Wednesday to begin his duties as a captain in the army air corps.

THE WORLD IS LIKE THAT + +

By Kathleen Norris

CHAPTER 5.

"We didn't have any rain in the city at all. But it felt heavy and muggy. Like rain."

The car clock said five minutes of seven. It would take her only twenty minutes to get up the grade; she would arrive at exactly the right minute.

She knew this road. It was fun to follow it up and up, finding fewer and fewer houses as the hill rose, finally coming out on the ridge and seeing the warm squares of light that were Covey's windows. The lane that led from the broader road into his place was indeed soft and muddy; the car lurched and bumped on holes; Jocelyn turned it about in workmanlike fashion and backed it into the empty shed that served as a garage. Her heart rose on a wave of deep thankfulness and joy; Kent's blue car was already there. They were here, no question of that now!

She picked her way in almost pitch blackness to the front door, carrying her bag and her packages. Rain fell thickly, the windows gave her the only light she had now; it was not bright enough to save her stepping into a pool of ice-cold water here, or into the soft sinking earth of a flower bed there. Covey had done little in the matter of cultivation, but there was a path, and there was finally firm wooden steps under her wet feet, the doorknob in her wet glove.

She dropped her bundles in the dark hallway; shed her hat and gloves. Pushing her bright hair into a camp cap as she opened the door of the cabin's one big room, she called challengingly, "Hello, everyone!"

There was a good fire roaring on the open hearth, and an oil lamp was lighted. The dear shabby chairs, the long table, the curtained bunks. The line of books were all half revealed: she loved every inch of the place. The warmth of it was delicious after the bleakness and darkness and wetness outside.

No one was in sight. The rest of the house consisted merely of a small tiny kitchen, walled, as this room was walled, in raw pine, and a bathroom. In summer weather a canvassed back porch could be used as an additional bedroom; in winter Covey merely drew an old corduroy curtain across the center of this room. Women tok the berths on one side; men those on the other, and if a good deal of hilarious conversation went on across the curtain, it did not tend to make visits to the place less enjoyable to the artist's lighthearted friends. Tonight, Jocelyn reflected, she and Una would take their turn at the bathroom, washing shudderingly in its icy chill, but with hot water and fragrant soap and Covey's mismated towels to aid them, and then snuggle under their warm blankets and watch lamplight and firelight shine on the walls and faded rugs and the backs of books, and listen to the rain on the low roof.

When the men returned from their ablutions there would be the usual nonsense. "Girls, don't hesitate to call us at the least alarm in the night." "Don't worry, we won't." "Anything alarming you, Jocelyn?" "Only you, Kent." "This is very distressing to me, Jocelyn, you know what a stickler I am for conventions.' "I know, Red. We both feel for you deeply, don't we, Una?"

Then laughter, and their light out, and the men's light out, and finally, "Oh, hush up, both of you! We're sleepy!" and then the silence and the dying glow of the burning logs, and once again the delicious soft rustle and patter of the rain overhead.

Jocelyn had stayed here several times under those conditions. They were perhaps the happiest times that she and Kent ever had had together. They had expressed wonder sometimes, that those who loved each other did not find some such place as this in which to be happy. So little money was needed, and so many persons had that much money! A garden, trees, a wide glorious view, wild poppies spangling the hills in May, Michaelmas daisies thick beside the lanes in autumn. And French bread and cheese and good hot coffee, and the utter peace of dreamless sleep and quiet days. . .

And love, they had always said. A man and a woman loving each other desperately, completely, gloriously. She in faded Chinese coolie smocks; he in a daubed shabby jacket and worn cords, and sunrises and sunsets and the whitewash of summer moons and the delicate frosts of winter mornings theirs forever and forever!

Just to be back in the beloved room brought back the old dream, and it was as if he loved her as much as ever he had, as if she were happy again. She turned from where she was standing, rain-spattered, and with her hands stretched to the fire, when he came in from the kitchen, and the light made an aureole of her gold hair and shadowed her eyes as she laughed at him.

"I had to come! I had Una's message, and I knew it was my last chance. But what a night! I went up to Red's and no one was there, and I'd telephoned and everything was all mixed up. But when I got back to the house Una's message was there, and a message that I could have the Johnson's car. It all seemed to fit too nicely. Instead of going to Aunt Nell's, I came over here."

He came over to her, and the look she loved was in his eyes. Rain pattered overhead, and the fire crackled. Kent smiled, and for a moment his arms were about her, and heaven was in her heart. He did not have to speak, and there was a moment of silence.

When he did speak it was amusedly, tenderly, as she had feared never to hear him speak to her again.

"What are you apologizing for?" he demanded. The tone rather than the words caressed her; seemed to enclose her in sweetness and warmth and safety again. She drew back from him laughing, bewildered, her soft gold hair still disordered and damp, her cheek still fresh and chilly from the cold and storm. "When have you had to apologize for coming where I am?" he asked.

All so much better than her most radiant dream! Jocelyn's face bloomed into sudden radiance.

"But I couldn't get hold of Una. I wasn't sure they were here! she explained. And as his expression, still amused and tender, took on a new note of mischief and triumph she added, in dawning surprise, 'Why, aren't they here?" And then with a shocked and half-delighted laugh, "They aren't? Oh, Kent!"

"Oh, Jocelyn!" he returned, in the same tone. And again she was jumbled against his heart, and she felt his kisses on her hair and her temples. Outside, high above the low roof, in the dark, the wind roared, and branches creaked and swished, and on the shingles and dripping from the eaves they could hear the steady pattering and splashing of the rain.

"This is a nice little hour stolen from under the god's very noses," Jocelyn said contentedly. She stretched her feet toward the fire, and turned the aureole of her bright hair against the cushions of the old chair.

Kent, stretched equally at ease in a companion chair of shabby leather, opposite her, smiled, took his pipe from his mouth and smiled again.

It was half past nine o'clock. The rain had stopped, and when Jocelyn, finishing supper dishes in good housewifely fashion, had stepped out to the back porch to invert the dishpan and hang the towels on the rail, she had seen stars overhead, and had called Kent to watch the white moon struggling in a tangle of heavy rolling cloud. Kent had braced her with his arm, and they had stood for a long while without speaking, staring up at the wild beauty of the night.

Then it had been good to come in, chilled and breathing deep, to replenish the fire and settle themselves there to rest and get warm after the strenuous work of getting a meal in a place as primitive as Covey's.

Never in all the months of their friendship had they two seemed as closely united in mood and spirit as they were tonight. It was as if they had weathered a great storm, been washed apart, and now found themselves flung safely upon a high sun-warmed beach, rediscovering each other with all the freshness of beginnings and all the seasoned joy of known delight.

"Kent, I have to go home. It'll take me an hour to drive back."

"When you go I'll go with you," he said.

"That wouldn't do any good, darling. We'd be in two cars."

"It'd be an escort, anyway. But I'll drive your car and leave mine here. I'd have to come back tomorrow anyway, I can take the train. I've not done any packing, really."

"You mustn't do that. No, I'll toast for another half-hour and then be on my way. But Kent," Jocelyn said, her beautiful eyes on his, "this has been so perfect! This has been just what I needed. I've wanted so terribly just another hour with you! and to have it here, just our two selves, and the rain shutting us in, has been—well I'm grateful. And I do see," she went on a little thickly, but steadily, and with a smile in the eyes that were suddenly misted, "I do see that we have to end it, Kent, and I'm going over to Aunt Nell's tomorrow to begin quite a different way of feeling. Really I am! I've no business to dream dreams and build plans about another woman's husband."

Kent was listening, his head dropped, his fine sensitive mouth biting now and then on his pipestem, his eyes moving moodily to her face, moodily narrowing as he looked into far space again. He did not speak.

"Wasn't it always a sort of lie, Kent, that we were just good friends, that we wouldn't hurt Lillian? You've kissed me, you've made me presents, we've met each other secretly a hundred times, and we've said all along that it didn't rob Lilian. But I'm not so sure!"

Still he did not speak. He had raised his eyes now and was regarding her steadily.

"So you see I've come to see it your way," she finished, gaining certainty with every word.

"I wonder if we've been a pair of fools!" Kent said suddenly in a hoarse voice.

"Fools?" Jocelyn faltered, her eyes widening.

ANNOUNCE AIR SCHOLARSHIPS NEXT MONDAY

Richland Aeronautical Chapter To List Winners at Dinner Meeting at Church.

By ROBERT E. ROGERS

Next Monday is the day set for announcing winners of flight scholarships to be awarded 15 students who successfully completed their 72 hours of ground training here several weeks ago.

The 35 hours of cost-free pilot training will go to the 15 Mansfield district youths who made the highest grades out of a class of 50 who originally enrolled for the training.

Among the 10 flight scholarship and five alternate awards will be one to one of the three girls who finished the 72-hour course in the record time of five weeks.

Announcement of winners is to be made at a dinner meeting of the Richland county chapter of the National Aeronautical association scheduled for 7:30 p. m. at the Park Avenue Baptist church.

In addition, diplomas will go to eight pilots, of the original class of 10 students who started their training when the CAA inaugurated its civil pilot training last spring, who have completed their pilot training and already won their wings.

Flight training for the lucky 15 is expected to be started immediately at the municipal airport.

The government lost one of its new pilots to the army the past week. John E. Benlow, Galion, one of the students in the CPT class resigned.

He's a sergeant in Battery D of the National Guard and has been drafted into the regular army and will entrain soon for Camp Shelby in Mississippi.

It looks now as though those government - financed improvements at the airport, which were expected to total about $186,000 are all "washed out."

Congress last week allowed the CAB only $40,000,000 to begin work on a program of not over 250 airports, which are to be selected by a committee composed of CAA officials and army and navy officers.

Congress rejected the proposed $500,000,000 long-range program for developing or building 4,000 ports.

As it stands now there is a question whether Ohio will be given any projects under this program.

However, nine of the 486 projects listed by the CAB as defense projects in the state, and the ones expected to receive priority, would leave Mansfield out in the cold.

They include airports at Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati, Akron, Middletown, Portsmouth, Toledo, Youngstown and Jackson Wells.

Improvements at the port here were recommended by the state bureau of aeronautics to improve the field for the advanced training of CPT students.

Proposed was the preparation of land, the construction of hard-surfaced runways and night lighting equipment, raising the port from class one to class two.

Be Quick To Treat Bronchitis

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, MONDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1940.

It was long a practice in royal families to bestow titles on relatives—but America has no royal families.

It is said that common sense would do much to reduce automobile accidents—but common sense is so uncommon.

Not so many demands are being heard for a national referendum before entering war—as the suspicion is growing that dictators wouldn't wait for the official count.

Answering Japan's Threat

THE CALL of navy and marine reservists into service can be regarded as another indication of official Washington's idea of this country's close approach to war.

Japan's arrogance, as evidenced in the statement made last Friday by Foreign Minister Matsuoka, appears as no more than a threat which expresses the attitude of the entire Axis group and intended to prevent any further aid to Great Britain or China by the United States.

With the call of national guardsmen into service and approaching the date for registration of 16,000,000 men between the ages of 21 and 35, from which to draft more than a million for military training, the national defense program is moving forward in the matter of augmented man-power as well as in defensive equipment.

The time element enters strongly, however, into any consideration of just how quickly this country could be made ready to meet such an onslaught as might be precipitated by the totalitarian tri-partite alliance in the event of Great Britain's defeat in its present defense of the British Isles.

In his statement accompanying the call to navy and marine reservists, Naval Secretary Knox said: "We are the largest obstacle in the path of the totalitarian powers. Should Great Britain fail to stem the tide of ever advancing tyranny, we shall find ourselves surrounded by these international brigands, whose greatest victory would be destruction of the United States."

Also making reference to the need for home defense, Secretary Knox said: "We know we have hundreds, even thousands, of saboteurs within our gates. If the army and navy are called to meet a challenge on the high seas and on battlefields, it is your task to see that no one stabs them in the back while they are thus engaged."

As the situation has now developed it becames more evident that aid to Great Britain, to the limit of possibilities, is an essential part of national defense—not because we like it but because conditions compel it.

Training Seen As Opportunity

WINTHROP ROCKEFELLER, grandson of the first John D. Rockefeller, thinks a year's military service may be "a real opportunity" for young fellows. And it isn't evident that he merely means other young fellows. He himself, a bachelor of 28, is liable to conscription and apparently not worrying about it. Having labored in the Texas oil fields, drilling and digging ditches and setting up derricks, he thinks he could stand it. This lad gave a good talk the other day at a meeting of the National Recreation Congress.

"All my life," he said, "I have eagerly read American history, because it is the story of free men with determination, courage and resourcefulness, who fought and won the battle of life to give us our heritage and the tools with which to build an even greater country.

"I don't like to believe that the abundance which exists about us has softened us rather than served as a challenge to progress. I do not like to believe that our present generation will be shown in the history books of the years to come as the generation that thought in terms of what would be done for them, as opposed to our forefathers, who thought in terms of what they could do for themselves."

He insists that the qualities which make a good soldier are just the same as those that make a good citizen.

Alaska Becomes Tin Producer

THERE are two sections of the world to which minds turn when tin is mentioned. One is Bolivia. The other is the Dutch East Indies. Tin is one of the main reasons for Axis interest in the Far East and in South America. It's one important reason why the democracies do not want their imports cut off from those countries which produce tin.

But a third area is now producing tin—the Fairbanks and Arctic regions of Alaska. Fifty tons of the metal will be coming out of Alaskan ground this year.

Fifty tons of tin is not a great deal in view of what this country habitually consumes. But it means that year by year discoveries of further supplies of natural resources make us less dependent on the outside world.

Planning for Halloween

EVEN the preliminary announcement that McVey post, American Legion, is to again sponsor Mansfield's Halloween celebration merits the enthusiastic acclaim it has received.

Last year's Halloween observance, under Legion direction, followed along lines which had originally been developed by the late Fred Hunt and carried through by him for a number of years as a personal community service. The purpose, as successfully carried out, was to provide downtown attractions for Halloween celebrators, with a masked parade and other entertainment features.

With such supervision as has heretofore been given, and with enforcement of laws intended to prevent rowdyism and property damage in residence sections several days, or a week, in advance of Halloween, this occasion can be looked forward to with pleasure instead of dread.

Another Early Thanksgiving

MOST of the states, through their governors, have acquiesced in the early Thanksgiving advocated by President Roosevelt, and will eat turkey on the 21st of November. But quite a number, especially in the New England states, seem determined to stick to the last Thursday in the month, which comes on the 28th.

A permanent feud might develop from this controversy, comparable to one described in "Gulliver's Travels." It was concerned not with turkeys but with chicken eggs. The nation got involved in an endless war between the "Big Enders" and "Little Enders," these terms indicating the end on which the rival factions broke their eggs.

An interesting item from Florida is to the effect that alligators are harmless as long as their mouths are closed—just like some folks you know.

Noting that "Nazi Bombs Are Dropped at Random," one reader says he can't find such a place on the map.

"HOLDING OUT FOR BETTER TERMS"

Spending Presages Business Boom

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON—A tremendous boom in all lines of business is expected by many far-sighted manufacturers. One of the best statements of the situation as viewed by some economists, as a result of the tremendous government spending only partially under way, is set forth in the following letter Eugene F. McDonald, jr., president of Zenith Radio corporation, has sent to all his dealers.

"Never in history from Caesar to the present day has any nation prepared a program of armament and spending equal to that which exists right here in the United States today.

"If there should be some unexpected upset in the war abroad and foreign buying ceases, or we become involved, Orient or Europe, our armament spending is going to go on just the same, as we will consume the capacity of our American factories in our present program.

"It makes no difference whether it is cannon, rifles, airplanes, tanks, powders, chemicals, or factories to make them.

Every dollar goes to labor and profit—Do not pass this statement off lightly. Iron ore, lumber, cotton, etc., is nothing but labor with a minor part to profit.

"Please keep this fundamental in mind: of our government armament spending—over 90 per cent will go to labor and less than 10 per cent to profit.

"From July 1940, to July, 1941, the government will spend five billion defense dollars in the United States.

"In August the government spent only one hundred and eighty million dollars on this program, which means the program must rise from now on to five hundred million dollars per month to meet the year's total.

"Figure out what five hundred million additional dollars each month means to business. Business spurted ahead and looked upon the spending of the soldiers' bonus as a godsend at the time. Yet, this soldiers' bonus represented only two monthly installments of five hundred million dollars each and from now on that amount will be spent each month.

"The WPA in its heyday injected barely one hundred and forty million dollars a month into business. The AAA put in less than seventy-five million dollars a month on an average.

"The farmers' income, independent of all the above this year, will be the second largest since 1930.

THE present defense program anticipates over thirty-six billion dollars expenditure up to and including 1946, of which the five billion dollars to be spent this year is only a small part. In August this year, when only one hundred and eighty million dollars of the five billion for this year was spent, the thirty leading store chains of the United States increased their business from 3.1 per cent to 33.3 per cent over August, 1939. Not one of these store chains showed a decrease. Every one of these thirty leading chains showed an increase in the eight months of 1940 over 1939 up to August, and mind you, the spending had hardly started then.

"In other words, all these defense billions that are to be spent this year are PLUS expenditures which come on top of the already splendid increasing business.

"The draft will increase business. The majority of men drafted will be single and certainly these men have not averaged $30 per month, net, to spend in civilian life after they have paid for lodging, board, and clothing. The soldiers and the sailors spend their money.

"The shortage of help is already making itself felt. We all must give precedence to government, war, or armament orders. We have already felt the tightening of our suppliers of raw and finished material. This will increase, not decrease. We have not materially felt the tendency on the part of our suppliers to raise prices—yet—but that will come next."

Health And Diet

Vitamin Shortage Seldom Occurs.

—By DR. CLENDENING

THE vitamins are substances in our food which do not add to the energy value of the food but which serve to keep the body healthy in various more or less subtile ways. They seem to exert a sort of chemical action on tissues, like drugs rather than foods. Discovered only within the last three decades, they have fascinated experimental scientists.

All animals require vitamins and many of the lower animals are very susceptible to the development of these deficiency diseases. The experimental scientist can arrange a diet in which a single element is excluded and produce quite startling results—in rats and pigeons. But he finds some difficulty in producing these conditions in man. One reason is that it is almost impossible to arrange a palatable diet for man in which vitamin elements are left out. Nature has seen to it for our own protection that in an edible diet she puts in the vitamins.

I showed in a recent article that the average American family spending $4.00 per week, per head, would all receive adequate vitamins. The fear of not receiving enough vitamins has been so drubbed into our heads that it is a comfort to emphasize that.

"Bachelor Scurvy."

"How then does a person get a vitamin deficiency?" This is a natural question. One part of the answer is that he doesn't very often. But in the ordinary course of life, conditions, occasionally arise that will produce the vitamin deficiencies.

One of these has been aptly called "bachelor scurvy." Shattuck and Minot, of Boston, have very diligently called attention to this. The usual patient is a man over fifty years of age who lives alone and whose subsistence depends upon his own culinary inclinations.

Another cause of deficiency disease is religious fervor. Those who get a message indicating that a large number of foods should be prohibited are victims. Diet fadists are also candidates for vitamin deficiency.

Alcoholics Get It.

Still another group are the alcoholics. The usual form is Vitamin B deficiency causing neuritis. It used to be called alcoholic neuritis—a form of paralysis of the legs. The alcoholic notoriously skimps his food supply; he gets enough caloric energy from his liquor, and if he does eat, chooses over-refined or processed foods which are deficient in vitamin food factors.

Straus proved that alcoholic neuritis was a Vitamin B deficiency.

Timely Editorial

It Can Happen—and Has.

A reader of the News asks whether it is possible for a president to be selected even though a majority of the people vote against him. Yes.

It has hapened. In 1876, Hayes became president though he received but 4,033,950 popular votes, while his opponent, Tilden, had 4,284,757. Again in 1888, Cleveland was defeated though he received 95,713 more votes than Harrison.

The Constitution of the United States does not permit the people to vote directly for candidates for the presidency. In each state the voters choose electors "equal to the whole number of senators and representatives to which the state may be entitled in the congress." And the electors, meeting in the electoral college, cast their votes by states for president.

Since these electors are chosen by party ballots, only a majority of the voters in a state is required to elect the electors.—Detroit News.

Axis-Tokyo Pact Startles Russia, No Promises of More Territory

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—The new alliance between Japan, Germany and Italy has revived discussions between the United States and Russia regarding a common policy in the Far East.

Conversations to this end had been taking place all summer, but had made little progress. The Russians at that time were playing the British off against the Nazis, and figured they would jump to whichever side seemed to be coming out on top.

However, the Japanese alliance came as a dose of very cold water in Moscow's face. Foreign Minister Molotoff apparently did not know for sure that the alliance was to be signed until about 24 hours in advance. And despite reassuring statements that Russia was being taken care of, there have been no actual commitments by the Axis powers to the Soviet.

Of all the powers ringing the great land mass of Russia and Siberia, probably the oldest traditional enemy is Japan. The Russians have got along fairly well with Germany since the last war, have had their ups and downs with Great Britain, but with Japan there is a long and unmitigated enmity. Therefor, for Japan to become a part of the Axis is a bitter pill for the Soviet to swallow.

It is reported that Russia is asking that part of Manchukuo be given her as a sop for the new alliance. It is also reported that the Axis might give Russia the strait of the Bosporus plus a sphere of influence through Iran to the Persian gulf. But all these are merely reports.

Only tangible fact known here is that the Russians now seem to be a little more amenable to reason, and there may be a common understanding worked out between the United States and Moscow regarding Japan. So far the state department is letting Russia have all the aviation gasoline it wants and also the machine tools previously ordered here — though these have been barred to Japan.

It's no easy job to pin down the Russians, but conversations along these general lines are proceeding.

Note—Despite Stalin's extreme ire at the Nazi-Japanese deal, it will not surprise U. S. observers if temporarily he pays lip service to the new setup or even flirts with a non-aggression pact—which, however, will be meaningless.

* * *

Legion Politics.

THERE was one piece of politics at the American Legion convention in Boston which did not leak out—some hot rivalry between two Republican groups.

It happens that Hanford MacNider, assistant secretary of war under Coolidge, headed the Republican Service League up until recently. It was his job to rally Legion votes for Republicans.

However, the Republican Service League was recently euchered out from under MacNider and put under Harry Colmery, former commander of the American Legion.

And at Boston, Colmery opened Willkie headquarters at the Statler hotel. This was the first time that a Legion convention had been used openly to boost one political candidate, and considerable resentment was expressed, much of it coming from the friends of Hanford MacNider. Democrats stood on the sidelines and grinned.

Copper Coppered.

IT HASN'T been publicly announced, but the big copper moguls have assured the defense commission there will be no price kiting on this vital raw material.

The promise was not entirely voluntary. It followed some pointed prodding.

With defense production swinging into full stride, copper recently began showing signs of zooming skyward. Overnight there was a half-cent jump to 12 cents a pound.

To defense Commissioner Leon Henderson, whose job is to police prices, this restiveness was unwarranted. He had a confidential dossier on copper containing certain interesting facts. One of them was that while the U. S. government was being charged 12 cents a pound, large quantities were being sold to Japan at less than 10 cents.

Another was that the U. S. copper producers were protected by a 4-cent tariff and that plenty of copper could be obtained as well under 12 cents if this tariff wall were leveled.

So Henderson "invited" the copper chiefs to Washington. They came, among them C. F. ("Con") Kelley, head of giant Anaconda Copper. The conference was amicable, but Henderson minced no words.

He said that the defense commission wanted to keep the domestic market intact for domestic producers, but that the commission would not hesitate to buy elsewhere if any profiteering were attempted. Also, that he knew where there was plenty of cheap copper and that the 4-cent tariff could be junked by an executive order.

The copper officials did not resist. They agreed to keep prices in check; asked only that future orders be so timed and spaced as to enable them to operate steady production schedules.

Scrap Over Scrap.

EQUALLY vital iron and steel scrap is next on Henderson's list. With defense demands mounting by leaps and bounds, scrap prices have been tugging at the leash. Since exports are barred to Japan, Henderson sees no reason for any price hurdling, so this week he has summoned both dealers and users for a private talk.

As in the case of copper, the defense commission knows where there are large, readily accessible supplies of scrap, and Henderson will make it clear to the dealers that if they want to retain the domestic market they will have to keep prices within bounds.

Note—Behind the scenes, Henderson's adviser in these matters is astute Bernard Baruch, head of the World War Industries board.

On the Battlefront.

REPS: The Hatch act certainly is having effect. Representative Dudley White of Ohio, who heads the GOP speakers' bureau for the 31 states under the jurisdiction of the Chicago campaign headquarters, has been alloted only enough money to pay the expenses of 100 speakers for a week and a half.

Formerly the national committee paid both salary and expenses. Most speakers were kept on the stump for at least a month. But with a ceiling put on campaign expenditures by the Hatch law, the committee is holding outlays down to the bone. There will be no salaries for speakers. They will have to be volunteer workers and expenses will cover only a week and a half of touring.

DEMS: Democratic Townsendites on Capitol Hill are boiling mad at Dr. Francis Townsend's endorsement of Wendell Willkie. They are his strongest supporters, and his move puts them in an embarrassing hole, since they are running on the third-term ticket which he condemned.

Feeling is so hot that they have served notice on Townsend privately that they won't lift a finger to get action on his long-pending pension scheme. Some are even threatening to withdraw their names from the discharge petition, to bring the bill to a vote, after the election is over. Townsend talks big in his weekly about his potency in congress, but the real inside is that he swings very little weight.

The Townsend organization still carries political authority in some districts, but the "old Doc" himself has lost much influence in congress in the last two years. Some Townsend insiders are predicting that after November 5, he will be booted "upstairs" and a more politically deft front man put in his place.

Note—For more than a month, Townsend, in his weekly, has implied that his bill was on the verge of a vote. Actually it is buried in committee and has no chance of being brought up for a vote.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — Some actors strike out boldly with their political affiliations, as do Melvyn Douglas, who is leading a Hollywood drive for the re-election of Mr. Roosevelt, and Robert Montgomery, who is lining up all the votes possible for Mr. Willkie.

Others are very cagey about expressing political opinions. It isn't supposed to be good business. An actor plays to Democrats as well as Republicans, and if he wears a badge for one side on his lapel, a reaction may set in at the box office.

I was discussing this the other day with Alan Dinehart, who admitted that unfortunately this was true. The discussion grew out of an idle question of mine as to Broadway's opinion on the coming election.

"How are most of the actors going to vote?" I asked him.

"Oh, I don't know," he said, "I haven't given it any thought. When you give performances every night of the week and sometimes in the afternoon, as we have been doing in "Separate Rooms" for months now, you don't think about those things much. You haven't time."

"I suppose that's true," I said, "but I've noticed a good many campaign buttons around the theater, and I thought you might have heard some of the boys express an opinion."

* * *

IT WAS then that Mr. Dinehart, who is an excellent actor on the stage but not such a good one across a restaurant table when politics are in the air, suggested that actors could do a lot worse than keep their opinions to themselves. "But really," he said, "I haven't given the campaign much thought."

There was a little pause, then he said "But let me tell you this . . ."

What he told me I am not at liberty to divulge. He was talking wholly off the record. But his talk lasted for half an hour. It was uninterrupted. It was one of those sudden, impromptu things. It was a political lecture such as I have seldom had read to me. It praised and it damned. It flayed one of the candidates alive and tossed a whole truck load of nice sentiment at the other man. For a man who hasn't given the election any thought it was a stump speech that either of the campaign managers would do well to adopt. When it was over we both had to laugh.

"Well, that's the way I feel about it," Alan Dinehart said.

I TOLD him I appreciated his confidence and that I would respect it. I don't blame him for avoiding controversial issues, especially when those issues affect people to an extent that they might conceivably eat into his career as an actor. As the heat of the campaign grows, instinctively you find yourself placing unjust premiums on the button a man wears in his lapel.

All Broadway, and New York too, is just like this. Let two or more people come together, waiting for a bus, or a cup of coffee, and you will hear the names "Roosevelt" and "Willkie" as late as sunrise.

A Farmer's Diary

Frosty Morning

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

LAST NIGHT our first killing frost spread a blanket cold and white across the valley and up the hollow of the slope. I walked out at dawn and felt, as well as saw, the brittle misty shroud upon the bosom of the meadow. Objects farther out, along the wooded rim, were indistinct.

An oil lamp shone from a neighbor's window. A rooster crowed and in the distance I heard the rumble of a train. But all our valley and our looming hill was "quiet as a nun." A strange impressive silence reigned, that one may know only at this early morning hour.

I stood as motionless as the plants and shrubs about me, facing the constantly increasing light that spread upon the eastern sky. "Out of eternity this new day is born," I thought—it was as if I witnessed a miracle—I, a watcher of the sky from among the hills. The smaller stars faded first and disappeared. Then even the bright morning star dimmed and was blotted out before the rising sun. Warmth, light, and beauty—motion of birds and beasts and men—came with the sun out of the semi-darkness of the dawn.

From the surface of the pond, between the broad lily pads, white thin clouds of fog steamed up into the frosty air, and floated lazily eastward, dissipating into the higher atmosphere. Tender leaves of the bean rows in the garden hung encased in ice, pointing to the ground. An hour later the livid green surface was dark and watery. The tempting pods were nipped, and no longer edible. Tomato plants hung withered, like tattered garments.

Fields of uncut corn along the road were ravished, too. The white spiny midrib of each blade was all that stood up in defiance of the cold. A rich heavy odor emanated from the border of the field—the essence of autumn harvest.

A flock of crows flapped silently from the hill. A flaming cardinal landed on the ground and I saw the red shadow of his coat upon the frosty grass. And, as though to give a voice to the new-dawned "blue sky," the meadow lark rose from his grassy bed and sang his liquid note upon the wing.

R. A. F. Map Reveals Strategy of Attack Over Germany

215 MILITARY OBJECTIVES CLAIMED HIT

Widely-Distributed Report Lists 700 Raids to Cripple Industry.

LONDON—(UP)—British bombing planes have made more than 700 attacks on 215 military objectives in Germany under a master plan by which the air force staff hopes to cripple its war industry, a ministry of information strategic map showed today.

Fifteen attacks have been made on Berlin, 30 on Wilhelmshaven, 12 on Frankfurt, 60 on Hamm, 16 on Essen, home of the great Krupp Armaments Works, 36 on Hamburg, 31 on Bremen and 19 on Hanover, according to the map

Chief objectives were oil depots, refineries, armaments works, airdromes, docks, naval bases, freight yards, rail junctions, barges and other shipping.

The attacks were aside from the many bombings of German-occupied territory

In explaining its map, which is being distributed all over the country, the ministry disclosed that the Royal Air Force was now turning its attention increasingly to central Germany, where 50 per cent of oil production is centered. Oil refining is concentrated in the Hamburg, Bremen and Hannover areas.

Belief was expressed that German aircraft production already had been materially reduced, and it is known that under its long range "ladder" plan the air force is constantly increasing the size and number of its attacks

"Every target selected has a place in a master plan," the information ministry said. "For example, though Germany had plenty of aluminum we still bomb her aluminum plants. Hitler is using that metal as a substitute for the copper he badly needs."

Bombing of barges at invasion ports, it was pointed out, had the additional effect of depriving Germans of barges for canal transportation. Synthetic oil plants in western Germany have been continuously and heavily bombed for two months, it was said.

Downs' Talk To Close Newspaper Observance Here

Closing the observance of National Newspaper week in Mansfield, Kenneth T. Downs, noted foreign correspondent who has "covered" some of the biggest events in Europe in recent years, will speak Wednesday noon at a joint meeting of the Rotary, Kiwanis, Gyro and Optimist clubs at the Mansfield-Leland hotel

Downs, correspondent for the International News Service, will speak here on an invitation from The News-Journal. He will tell of the Hitler drive on Holland, Belgium, and France and the fall of the European democracies

More than 5000 daily and weekly newspapers in the nation are observing National Newspaper week, first celebration of its kind. Theme of the observance is the part the free press has had in the preservation of American democracy.

Newspapers are publishing advertisements and stories, reminding readers of the advantages of American newspapers over the dictator-controlled press of Europe.

MODEL HOME TO OPEN FOR WEEK

700 Inspect New Residence on Beethoven Street.

The model small home, 503 Beethoven street, will be kept open from 2 p. m. to 8 p. m. every day this week. R. M. Bushnell, builder of the home, announced today

More than 700 persons inspected the home yesterday, Bushnell said, and it was decided to keep the home open during the week so that everyone would have a chance to see it.

The home contains many modern features not usually associated with low-cost homes.

RAIN SHOVES MERCURY DOWN

Temperature Skids to 60; It'll Be Cooler Tonight, Tuesday.

A light shower that rode into the Mansfield area on the tail of high winds last night shoved yesterday's balmy weather under cover.

The temperature skidded to 60 last night after hitting a high of 82 Sunday and the forecast said it would be fair and cooler tonight and Tuesday.

At noon today a two-degree drop was noted as the mercury went down to 58. The average temperature during the past 24 hours was 67.2, nearly 12 degrees above average.

propriate place to put this picture," he said. "It is a perfect symbol of the real accomplishments and purposes of my opponent."

Aerial bombs signalled his entrance into Journal square, where the crowd hooted at Hague's name and listened to Willkie speak.

"No one man should be able to control a city," Willkie said, as he opened his one-day campaign tour through northern New Jersey.

He said European countries would not have "gone down in the black despair of dictatorship" if their people had treasured and fought for their civil rights.

"All the military defense on earth," he said, "won't do us any good if we don't have civil defense—moral defense—the defense of militant American consciences—first of all. Defense begins at home—right here in Journal Square—with the civil liberties of every citizen of this community"

Saying that Jersey City residents would fight for their civil rights "if any foreigne muscles in here," Willkie continued·

"You don't want to be any one kind of American everywhere else and some other kind here at home. Any person or force that deprives you of the exercise of your civil liberties according to the bill of rights should be treated like the enemy he is.

"If you believe this, you will agree with me that no one man should be able to control a city. It can't be done without infringement on somebody's civil liberties.

"Americans don't want those infringements in their communities Americans don't want to be dictated to—even benevolently. Americans don't need to be given local permission for free assemblage—their constitution guarantees it to them."

Willkie will speak from the Newark stadium at 8 p. m over a nation-wide Mutual hookup

The presidential nominee spent a busy Sunday at his personal headquarters in New York, conferring, among others, with Republican Chairman Joseph W. Martin and William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

It was disclosed last night by Willkie's press secretary that the nominee had met John L. Lewis, CIO chieftain, a week ago Saturday night at the home of a mutual friend.

Willkie proposed last night, in reply to a suggestion from "more than 50 prominent Americans," that Oct. 23 be designated as "no third term day."

"When we are confronted by threats to our freedom from abroad," he said in a statement, "we cannot afford to risk a departure from our traditional system of free government at home."

PAROLE BOARD TO MEET HERE

Cases of 265 inmates at the Ohio State reformatory were being reviewed by the Ohio Pardon and Parole commission which convened at the institution today.

Supt. Arthur L. Glattke said the cases represented those of 205 prisoners in the institution proper and those of 60 trusties in the honor camps at Grafton and Sandusky.

Two members of the three-man commission are here for the sessions which are expected to continue through Thursday. They are H. W. Jewell, Delaware, chairman, and E. E. Everett, Lima. The other member is L. O. Payne, Cleveland.

ARMY BELIEVES CHISELERS GET HALF MILLION

Takes Action to Curb Land Speculators at New Plant Sites.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Estimating that land speculators had cost it nearly $500,000 in two months the war department inaugurated a new purchasing policy today to enlist the weight of public opinion against profiteering on defense factory sites.

The $500,000 "take" which speculators have realized, an official said, was on the land for the only seven plants for which contracts thus far have been signed The plants, valued at $111,000,000 will be privately built and operated, but government-financed and owned.

With more than $500,000,000 yet to spend on increasing production facilities for munition and airplanes, the department has feared that continued operations of the speculators eventually would chisel a multi-million-dollar slice from the funds urgently needed for buildings, machinery and tools.

In the future, therefore, a spokesman said, the intended locations of new army-financed factories will be announced as soon as selected, with the hope that public announcement will forestall land scalpers.

In the past, efforts were made to keep plant locations secret

Helped Wounded Chinese, Speaks In City Tomorrow

Mrs. Charles Lewis, stationed in south China since 1920, will be the principal speaker at the annual division meeting of Wooster Presbyterial at the First Presbyterian church here Tuesday.

With her husband, Rev. Charles H. Lewis, she was stationed in Canton, now the object of the Japanese advance, and the inland cities of Yeungkog and Kochow. During the past 20 years, Mrs. Lewis' work has been a combination of teaching and evangelism.

During the past year, with warfare in China on the increase, Mrs. Lewis devoted most of her time to relief work and caring for the wounded.

Mrs Lewis will speak to the gathering at the morning meeting and in the afternoon

TO THE MAN WITH A JOB WHO NEEDS A LOAN

How you can borrow $20 to $500—without endorsers or guarantors—and repay in convenient monthly installments—No credit questions asked of friends or relatives—Quick, private service

WOULD you like to get a cash loan without having to ask friends or relatives for a favor? At Household Finance you can borrow $20 to $500—without endorsers or guarantors—if you can make small monthly payments on your loan. We require no stocks or bonds. At Household Finance you borrow on your own signature; your friends are not asked to sign the papers with you.

Choose your own payment plan

See, in the table below, how you may repay your loan in convenient monthly installments which fit your own income. You may repay in small installments spread over 30 months. Or you may repay sooner to reduce the charges.

Suppose that you need a $100 loan. You find this amount in the first column of the table. Then read across picking out the monthly payment which you wish to make. You will see, for instance, that monthly installments of $9.46 each will repay a $100 loan in full in 12 months. Or, if you wish smaller payments, as little as $4.46 a month for 30 months will also repay a $100 loan.

Same rate to everyone

Installments in the table cover everything. They include charges at Household's rate of 2½% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $300 and 1½% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $300. This rate is less than the maximum prescribed by the Small Loan Law. Household has only this one rate—the same for everyone, whether new customer or former borrower.

No one else need know

When you borrow at Household, there is no need to ask friends or fellow workers to sign the loan papers with you. (Loans are made on furniture, car or note.) So that your loan may remain your private affair, we do not ask friends or relatives about your credit. If you should be faced with sickness or unemployment while paying on a loan, Household will show you every consideration. Last year we foreclosed on only one chattel mortgage for each 20,000 loans an action taken then only as protection against fraud.

If a loan will help you, you are urged to look at the table again. Then phone or visit us for further information You will be under no obligation to borrow.

METHODIST CEREMONY READ AT BRIDE'S HOME

Miss Charlet Cellars, Frederick H. Snell United In Marriage Sunday Afternoon, Will Live In Cleveland.

THE double ring service of the Methodist church was used yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock to unite in marriage Miss Charlet Cellars and Frederick H. Snell of Cleveland at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cellars, 164 Western avenue.

Rev. Ralph Taylor Alton, pastor of the Asbury Methodist church in Delaware, performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate families of the couple. Both Rev. and Mrs. Alton were close friends of the bride at Ohio Wesleyan university, when she was a student there.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a street-length wool dress, old parchment in color, with black accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of orchids, and her only jewels were a set of pink tourmelines set in silver filigree work, a wedding gift brought from Venice, Italy, by her cousin, Peggy Wood, well-known in stage and music circles in New York, Hollywood and London.

The former Miss Cellars is well-known in Ohio music circles as a flute soloist, and as the organizer and director of the Charlet Cellars Trio, heard frequently in this city, as well as in other parts of Ohio, New York and Florida. She is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan university, where she was a member of Alpha Chi Omega, social sorority, and Mu Phi Epsilon, national honorary music sorority. She studied flute with Ary van Leeuwen, internationally known flutist, formerly with the Cincinnati symphony orchestra, and also with George Barrere of New York. She was granted a full scholarship in flute at Eastman School of Music, Rochester, N. Y. by Dr. Howard Hanson, director of the school. Besides her work as a performer, Mrs. Snell has to her credit some flute quartet arrangements, which will be released by the publishers this fall.

Mr. Snell is the son of Mrs. J. N. Loghey of Pontiac, Ill. He attended Northwestern university in Evanston, Ill., and had hotel training at various leading hotels in Chicago. He now is associated with the Commodore hotel in Cleveland.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mr. Snell's stepfather and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Loghey, from Pontiac, and Miss Philemon Gregg of Marion. After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Snell will be at home to their friends at the Commodore, Apt. 114, about Oct. 15.

MRS. FREDERICK H. SNELL

Betty E. Goddard, William H. Culp Married Sunday

Attired in a soldier blue wool dress with a matching velveteen coat and navy accessories and wearing an orchid corsage, Miss Betty E. Goddard, 323 Park avenue west, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray E. Goddard, Springfield, came up the aisle of the Grace Episcopal church yesterday at 1 p. m. on the arm of her father.

She exchanged her nuptial vows with William Howard Culp, 275 Helen avenue, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Culp, Salem, with Rev. Glenn Lewis officiating.

Attending Miss Goddard were her two sisters from Springfield, Mrs. Robert Berkshire and Mrs. James Rogers. Earl Culp served as his brother's best man.

The bride was graduated from the Springfield high school, and attended the Winonia School of Photography. She has operated the Goddard Studio here. Mr. Culp attended the Sico high school, and is employed at the Matthes Clothing store. Mr. and Mrs. Culp will make their home at 33 West Park drive.

Guests here for the wedding in addition to the parents of the couple were Mr. and Mrs. James Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Berkshire and Mrs. Mary E. Barsto, all of Springfield.

Announce September Marriage Here Today

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Iva Marie Dent, daughter of I. R. Dent, 20 Buckingham street, and Herman R. Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Martin, 14 Blanche street. The ceremony was solemnized by Rev. David B. Millar, retired minister, who is 100 years old, in his home on North Bowman street, at 4 o'clock on the afternoon of Sept. 29.

The bride wore a soldier blue crepe redingote ensemble with black accessories and an orchid shoulder corsage. She attended Mansfield Senior high school and has been employed at the Liberty Shoe store. Mr. Martin also attended Mansfield Senior high school, and he is an employe of the Tappan Stove company. Mr. and Mrs. Martin are now at home to friends at 67 West First street.

VISIT IN WILMINGTON.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Leuthner, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Ellison, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Kissell and Mrs. Hattie Simmons, all of Mansfield, and Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Blake, Newark, spent the week-end in Wilmington. They were guests at the golden wedding anniversary celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ellison. Mrs. Leuthner, Mrs. Blake and Mr. Ellison are children of the senior Ellisons.

FELLOWSHIP THEME FOR TEACHERS' WIVES

Organization Plans Varied Monthly Meetings Beginning With Anniversary Dinner At School Next Week.

A PROGRAM emphasizing good fellowship and friendship has been planned this season by the Teachers' Wives club of Mansfield in celebration of their 20th year. The program was planned by Mrs. H. D. Bishop, Mrs. F. M. Bennett and Mrs. Vern Hoffman. The bright yellow covered program shows that the anniversary dinner of the club will be held Oct. 16 at the Johnny Appleseed cafeteria with Mrs. V. D. Coe, Mrs. J. E. Smith and Mrs. G. W. Harmony in charge of the program.

Former members will be guests. Mrs. Fred Elder is the associate chairman.

On Nov. 20 the group will have a musicale at 7:45 p. m. with Mrs. V. C. Ketner in charge at the home of Mrs. Nelson Neff, 619 Harter street. A Christmas party will be an event of Dec. 18 with Mrs. J. J. Thom, 118 Wolfe avenue. Mrs. Robert DeHaven will give a story, and Mrs. F. B. Million is in charge of the music. A Christmas exchange will be conducted.

In January Mrs. Walter Mickey, 266 Helen avenue, will entertain, and Mrs. A. T. Owen will be in charge of the program. The February meeting at North Lake park pavilion will be a family covered-dish dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Frank as co-chairman, and a program on famous men.

Atty. H. H. Schettler will speak on wills at the March meeting, and Mrs. G. W. Harmony will give a paper on the development and use of plastics. Mrs. DeHaven will entertain. For the April meeting Mrs. L. C. Baumgardner will open her home, and Mrs. Hoffman will review a book entitled "Look Eleven Years Younger" by Burgess.

The final meeting of the year will be held May 21 with Mrs. H. J. Dotson, 92 Stewart avenue. "Writers Who Are Influencing Our Age" is the subject of the talk to be given by Mrs. John C. Stout. Mrs. Neff will be in charge of the music.

Officers of the club are Mrs Elder, president; Mrs. Bishop, vice president; Mrs. A. T. Owen, secretary, and Mrs. W. B. Huber, treasurer. Mrs. Harmony is the membership chairman, and Mrs. E. L. Heasley is chairman of gifts and flowers.

Informally Speaking...

Oct. 7, 1940.

Lucy, dear:

THIS is rather a rainy, dismal day, but that doesn't bother a party of Mansfielders, because they left this morning for the warm south. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Seemuth and their daughter, Mrs. Arthur Knight, and her son, Peter, are driving down to Atlanta, Ga., where they will visit with another daughter, Mrs. F. W. Conrade, her husband and family. . . . I'm sure you remember Mrs. Conrade, Lucy, because she was a resident here when her name was Louise Seemuth. . . . The Seemuths plan to stay in Atlanta for the winter months, but Mrs. Knight and Peter are going to drive back in a couple weeks.

The past week-end was indeed an exciting one for Mary Fink, who went up to Ann Arbor, Mich., with some friends, Kathryn and Paul Smith of Norwalk. . . . They went up to see the University of Michigan-Michigan State football game and were guests of Ed O'Donnell of Norwalk who's a student at Michigan. . . . They attended a dance, dinner and luncheon at his fraternity (Sigma Alpha Epsilon) house. . . . Mr. and Mrs. John Mahon were also at that game Saturday, having gone to Ann Arbor to spend the week-end with their daughter, Marjorie, and son, Henry. Marjorie is a sophomore at the university and member of Pi Beta Phi sorority, while Henry is a freshman this year. . . . The foursome went to Detroit yesterday then for the ball game.

* * * * *

Nancy and Bill Schultz also had a thrilling week-end, as they attended their first collegiate football game. . . . They went down to Delaware for the Ohio Wesleyan-Miami football game. . . . And after the final score had been made, Nancy and her mother, Mrs. Paul H. Schultz, went to the Alpha Chi Omega house to say hello to friends—Mrs. Schultz was a member of that sorority while a student at Ohio Wesleyan university.

* * * * *

* * * * *

Speaking of college students, I mustn't forget to tell you about Richard Shoup (who's the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Shoup of New Washington). He has passed auditions for membership in Capital university's state championship glee club and the chapel choir—nationally known college choir. . . . Richard was graduated from high school in June and has a four-year scholarship at the Columbus university. . . . He is studying public school music and also has met the requirements for membership in the university band and orchestra.

* * * * *

WE WERE all glad to see Mrs. May Mercer when she was in town because it's been some time since she was here for a visit. . . . She lives in Ventura, Cal. now, you know, and has been a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Almy for more than a week. . . . She plans to see friends in other cities throughout this section of the country before returning to the west coast.

* * * * *

JUST in closing—Dr. and Mrs. Robert Frey were in Van Wert for the week-end. . . . Mrs. Ruth Fowler attended the World Series ball game between the Cincinnati Reds and the Tigers in Detroit yesterday. . . . And Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hartman have taken a trip to New York City. . . . All of which seems to conclude the news for today, Lucy, so it's your turn to write.

Lovingly,

Marianne

Papers, Book Reviews Head Program for Timely Topics

PATRIOTISM has certainly invaded the club field this season, and one of the most completely patriotic programs so far received came into our hands last week from the Timely Topics club. This organization has printed its programs on sheets of blue and white paper, and the booklet covers are in bright red.

The opening session of the season will be a luncheon Thursday at the Alcove in Mt. Vernon with Mrs. Blake Shafer, Bellville, as hostess. "Chemistry Applied to the Home" is the subject for the paper which Mrs. George Wintersteen will give.

On Oct. 25 Mrs. A. H. Lewis will give a book review when Miss Carolyn Walter entertains, and Mrs. John Kunz will have a paper on "Old Crafts for New Hampshire" at the Nov. 8 meeting with Mrs. Wintersteen. Another book review will be given later in November by Miss Veronica Hanley, and Mrs. Lewis will be hostess.

Mrs. Wilmer Kessler will entertain Dec. 6 when Mrs. Augustus Perl gives a paper entitled "Theory of Art." The second December meeting will be a Christmas party at the Women's Club with a 6 o'clock dinner. Mrs. A. L. Glattke will be hostess, and Mrs. Laura Walters will have the program on "Christmas in Jerusalem."

At the first meeting of the new year Miss Walter will give a paper entitled "The Man Who Makes Faces in Stone" at the home of Miss Hanley. "Churches On Wheels" is the subject for the paper by Mrs. John Massa Jr., which will be given Jan. 24 at Mrs. Fred Walter's home.

Mrs. Glattke will give a book review Feb. 7 and Mrs. Perl will entertain at that time, while a luncheon has been scheduled for later in the month with Mrs. Walters as hostess. Early in March Mrs. Walter will give a "History of the Passion Play" at the home of Mrs. Kunz, and later in the month Mrs. Kessler will give a book review at the same home.

The members will have an Easter dinner party at the Women's Club April 17 with Mrs. Wintersteen, and the annual picnic will be an event of June 12.

Officers this year are Mrs. Shafer, president; Miss Hanley, vice-president, and Mrs. Kessler, secretary-treasurer. The program was planned by Mrs. Glattke, Mrs. Wintersteen and Mrs. Lewis.

At Home

The bride shown in formal attire above is Mrs. Edgar John Berry, the former Miss Mildred Hershey who was married Sept. 14 at the South Main Street Evangelical church. She and her husband are now at home at 369½ West Fifth street.

Parties Augment Schedule of Study For Orgnization

At the opening meeting of the Philomathian club last week the programs for the current season were distributed. The booklets covered with the club's conventional map of the city, carrys out the patriotic theme also with red lettering and a red, white and blue ribbon to serve as a binder.

Many of the subjects for the program deal with governmental and economic interests also. The next meeting will be an event of Oct. 16 when John Correll speaks on "Propaganda in Politics" at the home of Mrs. Otis Cummins. At the final session this month Mrs. Cummins will have the program on "Aviation's Guardian—Civil Aeronautics Commission." Mrs. Richard Tappan will etertain.

For the first November meeting Mrs. Charles Siegenthaler will entertain, and Mrs. Martin Brunner will give the program on "American Designers Look to Their Laurels." Later in the month Mrs. Tappan will talk on "Canada—America's Problem" at Miss Margaret Black's home.

A Christmas party has been planned for Dec. 11 with Miss Angeline Shaneff as hostess, and Mrs. Oliver Henkel and Mrs. Thornton Moore as associates.

The first meeting of the new year will be held with Mrs. Francis O'Brien, and Mrs. Siegenthaler will talk on "Revolution in Housing." At the Jan. 22 meeting with Miss Martha King, Mrs. Henkel will have a paper on "Current Curtain Calls." Miss Kathleen Sturges has selected "Foreign Footprints in the Home" for her program at Mrs. Charles Spreng's home Feb. 5.

A guest speaker will be presented at the home of Mrs. Lewis Hartman later in February, while Mrs. Fred Hout will give the program on "Plastics" at Mrs. Paul Stephens, March 5.

"Book-o-logue" is the title of the paper to be given by Mrs. Hartman at Miss Katharine Hartman's home on March 19. Programs in April and May include "Music" by Miss Shaneff at Miss Sturges' home, Mrs. Louis Bromfield speaking at the home of Mrs. Donald Black with Mrs. Tom Ford as associate hostess. "Radio: F-M Band" by Mrs. O'Brien at Mrs. Hout's, and Miss Helen Hosler will conduct a discussion of timely topics at Mrs. William Cutter's for the final meeting.

On June 8th the club will have a picnic at Brunner's with Mrs. Brunner, Miss Kathleen Rhoads, Mrs. Charles Newcomb and Miss Hosler as hostesses.

Officers of the club are Mrs. O'Brien, president; Miss Rhoads, vice-president; Mrs. Newcomb, secretary, and Mrs. Cummins, treasurer. The executive board includes the four officers and Miss Hartman, while the program committee is made up of Mrs. Cummins, Miss Sturges, Mrs. Tappan and Miss Black.

Announces Dates For Mystic Club Dances

Dates for the series of fall-winter Mystic club dances were announced last week by the directors of the organization. Nels Blocher and his orchestra will play again this season for the series which will be held between the hours of 9:30 and 12:30 at the Masonic Temple.

The dates are Oct. 18, Nov. 1, 15 and 29, Dec. 13, Jan. 3, 17 and 31 and Feb. 14. Directors of the club are Earl E. Bates, Tolman Burns, C. A. Wolfarth, R. N. Campbell, George H. Culler, president, D. A. McCullough, H. L. Dent, J. E. Snyder, W. H. Barr and A. F. Porter, secretary. Tickets for the series or single dances are available from the board members.
